NO BELGIANS DIED FROM STARVATION

Hoover's Report Shows That American Food Saved Thousands of Lives.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Four years of German oppression brought no loss of life from starvation to the populations of Belgium and northern France and the under-nourishment, resulting from enemy occupation can be stamped out of America continues to send food.

This report from Herbert Hoover, chairman of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, based on a survey of the occupied territories of western Europe, was made public tonight at the commission's headquarters here.

U. S. FOOD SAVED THEM.

The survival of the peoples of Belgium and northern France, while a quarter of the populations of other German-occupied lands died of famine, was ascribed by Mr. Hoover to the work of the commission, which, for four years poured food across the belligerent lines sufficient to keep men, women and children above the margin of starvation.

The gratitude of these people to the United States, Mr. Hoover reported, "is unbounded and embarrassing." They no longer need or desire to get food through charity, but owing to the systematic destruction of their textile industries they must still depend to a considerable extent upon the United States for clothing.

EXHIBITANT PRICES.

Though it is now possible, Mr.

Hoover found, to buy almost any kind of food in Belgium, the prices preclude the purchase except by the wealthy. Meat, according to the report, is $2 a pound, eggs $1 each, and butter $2.50 per pound. These prices contrast with an average income for less than one-half the population of less than $4 a week per family. The food administration established by the Belgian government, the report added, is taking care of this situation as rapidly as possible.

"The most cheering factor in the situation is the condition of the two million Belgian children who have been the object of the utmost solicitude of the whole world during the four years of occupation."

NUMBER DESTITUTE REDUCED.

Prior to the German evacuation Mr. Hoover stated, approximately 3,500,000 people were destitute and dependent. Through the energy of the people in getting back to work this number, he said, had been reduced to 2,000,000 and within a month it was expected to be decreased to not more than 1,000,000.

"My survey of the rest of Europe, the Balkan states and Poland," Mr. Hoover said, "is not complete, but sufficient evidence is at hand to show that before next harvest, relief of an unprecedented character must be extended if the remaining population is to be maintained in any semblance of health."

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER FOR PEACE MEET

Paris, Dec. 28.—The sentiment today in peace congress circles after another week of conferences is distinctly brighter and a spirit of optimism has taken the place of the pessimism which had prevailed in some quarters. This is due to private advices from London showing that the political exchanges now going on there have been equally as satisfactory as the public demonstrations.

One of the primary questions considered in these exchanges has been the convening of the conference at as early a date as possible. The American delegation has been quite insistent that it shall begin not later than Jan. 9. The exchanges today indicate an agreement on the part of the congress between Jan. 9 and 11.

Even the latter date would be acceptable to the Americans. It is announced, assuring a reasonably early opening of the discussions.

PESSIMISM WIRED OUT.

The pessimism previously existing in some quarters was due to the various views held on the "fourteen points" but the 15th president's statement that the Allied leaders agree with him in the principles therein laid down, has largely removed the first impressions.

The president's statement is echoed in all responsible quarters here. Premier Clemenceau also joining in the declaration that the conference will be held on the principles of the 15th president's statement.

A meeting was held in Colonel Edward M. House's residence tonight of all the American interests, including food, shipping, the army, navy, treasury and war board. Thus far Herbert C. Hoover, Edward N. Hurley and the other heads of the various branches have proceeded independently, but the meeting tonight forebodes a united commission.

FRENCH NEED AID TO REBUILD PLANTS

Baltimore, Mr. Dec. 25.—With 2,500,000 of her youngest, ablest and most spirited men killed or maimed, and upward of half her industry and shipping destroyed by the war, France's appeal to her allies during the period of rehabilitation will be for help in rebuilding the factories and farms which the Germans wrecked and for assistance in constructing or purchasing ships. Edouard De Bili, deputy high commissioner of the French republic declared here today in an address before the American association for the advancement of science.

He denied that France is "bled white" but said the handicap imposed as a result of her sacrifices in resisting the invader could not be overcome except with outside aid.

RAIL INCOME

LESS IN OCTOBER

Washington, Dec. 28.—The Interstate Commerce Commission in its monthly review of railroads, estimated today that the operating income of the principal roads for October was considerably below the figure for the corresponding month last year when they were under private control. Operating income is substantially the difference between revenues and expenses with deduction for taxes. In October this stood at $20,511,255, as compared with $105,769,428 in October, 1917, and $101,232,000 in November of this year.

KEEP GAS UNTIL PEACE IS ASSURED

Washington, Dec. 28.—The future of the chemical warfare branch of the army was discussed today at a conference of senate military committee members with officials of the war department. All of the gas on hand, which was manufactured for use against the enemy, the senators were told, will be kept with precautions against explosion, until actual signature of the peace treaty. It is possible, the senators were advised, that the peace treaty will contain specific reference to the use of gas in future wars. If such warfare is prohibited the war department's stock, amounting to 2,700 tons, will be destroyed. If not, a small supply will be retained and the rest taken to sea and destroyed except a small part, which may be salvaged for commercial purposes.

320,000 FRENCH PRISONERS BACK

Paris, Dec. 28.—(Havas)—Already 320,000 French prisoners have been repatriated from Germany, according to announcement made by Louis Deshayes, under-secretary for demobilization, in the chamber of deputies today. It is expected that all prisoners will be repatriated within a month.

BRITISH TO HELP BRING YANKS HOME

New York, Dec. 28.—The British government will be able to transport to the United States between 20,000 and 40,000 American troops in vessels under the British flag during January, it was announced here today by T. Ashley Sparks, director-general of the British ministry of shipping, on authority of a cablegram from the shipping controller in London. It was further announced that in addition to the Mauretania, due here tomorrow on her second voyage with 5,000 American soldiers, since the armistice was signed fourteen British steamships with a total troop capacity of 32,000 have been offered to the United States government, and will be ready to leave British ports of Brest, as may be designated, between now and Jan. 10.

MORE ON WAY.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The departure from France of three transports with more than 5,000 troops, including wounded and casualties, was announced tonight by the war department. The transport Mauretania sailed Dec. 23 and should reach New York Jan. 3, with the 14th field artillery and four batteries of the 14th field artillery, both of the 40th division and a number of sick and wounded and casualties.

The Northern Pacific sailing Christmas day is due in New York Jan. 2 with a large number of sick and wounded and casualties and the eighth trench mortar battery of the 8th division.

14 BATTLE SHIPS TO AID.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Fourteen battleships have been assigned by the navy department to help bring American troops home from France. The work of altering the battleships to fit them for transport work is being rapidly completed, and several of them already are in the service. All of the ten cruisers have been fitted up and the navy department announced today that one had sailed from Brest with its first load of troops. Another is at Brest, and two of the battleships are reported to have left Brest with troops.

The battleships assigned for this service are among the elder on the navy list and in order that they may bring as many soldiers as possible are operating with far less complement than usual.

HUNS PAY YANKS' WAY

Coblenz, Friday, Dec. 27.—Nine million marks arrived here today from Berlin to be turned over to the American army authorities as part of Germany's payment toward the expenses of the army of occupation.

The Germans now have given the Americans, in accordance with the terms of the armistice, 45,000 marks. The money has been placed in vaults near American headquarters where American soldiers guard it night and day.

EBERT CABINET FALLS, REPORT

Amsterdam, Dec. 28.—The Ebert cabinet has fallen, according to the Berlin Kreuz Zeitung. A Liebknecht-Lefebvre-Eichhorn cabinet will be formed.

U. S. SENATOR IN AERIAL FLIGHT

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Senator Jones of Washington, completed at 3 o'clock this afternoon an airplane flight from the national capital in company with Lieut. Logg, an army aviator. The senator will fly back to Washington on Monday.

The flight, at an average speed of 120 miles an hour against head winds nearly all the way, was made in three and a half hours, with a stop at Philadelphia to take on gasoline. At times, Senator Jones said, the airplane reached an altitude of 5,000 feet, where the temperature was as low as 15 degrees above zero.

REPORTED KILLED, ALIVE, WILL RETURN

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 28.—Sergeant Edward A. Stevenson, instructor of physics at Princeton university who was believed to have been killed in France, is well and will soon return. According to a cablegram received through the Red Cross today from Kjoelshaven, Norway, Prof. Stevenson has just been released from Germany.

HERE'S MARSHAL PETAIN RECEIVING HIS BATON FROM POINCARE IN REDEEMED METZ

First picture of the French military ceremony in re-won Metz, when President Poincaré presented the military baton of a marshal of France to General Petain. Poincaré, hat off, is handing the baton to the general, and standing near are "Papa" Marshal Joffre and Marshal Ferdinand Foch of France, General "Black Jack" Pershing of the American forces, General Sir Douglas Haig of the British, General Gillian, Belgian army; General Albricci, Italian army, and General Haller, Portuguese forces.

BIG VICTORY FOR COALITION GOVERNMENT

By Associated Press

London, Dec. 28.—The broad features of the election results announced today are the sweeping triumph of the Lloyd George coalition, the complete rout of the Asquithians, the pacifists and the women candidates, and, perhaps most significant of all, the victory of the Sinn Feiners in the new parliament a bare seven members. John Dillon, the Nationalist leader, was defeated by E. De Valera, Sinn Feiner for East Mayo, by a majority of over 4,000. Joseph Devlin, however, defeated De Valera for the West Belfast seat. De Valera also was a candidate in the Southdown constituency.

Not only has no coalition minister been defeated, but most of them were re-elected by extraordinary majorities. For instance, Premier Lloyd George's majority is about 12,000. Winston Churchill's 15,000 and Andrew Bonar Law's 12,000.

Among the surprises of the election was the defeat of Herbert H. Asquith the former premier. He is re-elected in company with most of his ablest lieutenants, including Sir John Simon, former home secretary. Ronald McKenna, former chancellor of the exchequer and others.

Labor fared badly in the election, though better than the Asquithians. They had expected to elect at least one hundred members, whereas they have only approximately seventy-five of whom ten are coalitionists. Even this, however, is a much larger representation than labor had in the old parliament.

LONE WOMAN ELECTED
Of fourteen women candidates only one will be entitled to sit in the House of Commons, namely, a Sinn Feiner, Countess Markievicz, who was elected for St. Patrick's division of Dublin City. But as the Sinn Feiners refuse to sit at Westminster, the House of Commons will, as hitherto, be composed entirely of males.

All the other women candidates including many of the foremost in the women's movement, were rejected by their constituencies. Christabel

FRENCH STRATEGY WON, SAYS HARDEN

Paris, Dec. 28.—(Havas)—Maximilien Harden, the German editor in an interview has declared to the correspondent of the Temps that Germany was beaten by the superior strategy of the French generals. Marshal Foch, he declared, was a military leader far above Ludendorff who had never been victorious on the front. As for von Hindenburg, the editor characterized him as little more than a figurehead.

Harden expressed fear that the loss of Alsace-Lorraine would be for Germany a wound like that suffered by France, but he hoped that the borders would have no great importance in the future.

He considered that the former emperor was not directly responsible for the war, but that he was a great culprit, for he should have been able to avoid the catastrophe.

GERMAN ENVOY TO LEAVE SPAIN

Madrid, Dec. 28.—(Havas)—Negotiations concerning the departure from Spain of the German ambassador and his staff have been concluded. Prince von Rathbor, the ambassador, and his assistants will leave Madrid on Jan. 2.

TOTAL DEATH TOLLS IN WAR 5,936,504

London, Dec. 28.—(British Wireless Service)—With the issue of the official figures of the French losses in the war it is possible to arrive at the approximate estimate of the appalling toll of life. The dead, so far, number 5,936,504. The individual national losses in dead thus far announced are:

British, 706,726, French, 1,071,300, American 58,178, Russian, 1,700,000, Austrian 800,000, German, 1,600,000. The total German casualties are given by the Berlin Vorters as 6,333,000, and the Austrian total was placed at 4,000,000. Serbia in killed wounded and prisoners lost 820,000 men.

"STACK NEEDLES" ALL YOU KNITTERS

Washington, Dec. 28.—American army of women knitters who did not cease work with the knitting of the unneeded, today were ordered by the Red Cross to "stack needles" their task accomplished. An inventory of articles in reserve shows sufficient on hand to meet the needs of the fighting men in this country and abroad and of Red Cross relief commissions. Knitted articles now in the making will be finished and turned into the 531 Red Cross chapters, which will issue no more yarn.

More than 10,000,000 sweaters, socks, mufflers, helmets and wristlets were turned out in the 17 months preceding the overthrow of the Central powers. Virtually every man in the army was given woolen accessories.

BRING CAPTURED HUN GUNS TO U. S.

Washington, Dec. 28.—All war material captured by the American army will be brought home, Secretary Baker said today to be disposed of as congress may direct. The equipment includes more than 1,400 guns and trench mortars taken in action and thousands of machine guns and rifles.

PRAISES SPIRIT OF Y WORKERS

New York, Dec. 28.—Approval of the announced policy of the Y. M. C. A. to rescript its contingents of secretaries bound overseas to educational, entertainment and physical work specialists, was expressed by Secretary of War Baker in a letter to John R. Mott, head of the war council, made public here tonight.

FLU ON WANE IN ARMY CAMPS

Washington, Dec. 28.—Influenza is again definitely on the decline in conditions of troops in the United States. A detailed report on health issued by the surgeon general's office did not show a single case in several of the larger camps for the week ended Dec. 20.

WILSON ENDS LONDON VISIT

President Talks On Lasting Peace Before British Notables.

London, Dec. 28.—President Wilson made his last public appearance in London today. Officials of the city of London presented him with an address of welcome in the ancient Guild hall where other famous Americans, including General Grant and former President Roosevelt, have been received.

Afterward he was the guest at a luncheon in the Egyptian hall of Mansion House, where hovers the ghosts of decades of civic oratory, and where many Americans have partaken of the famed aldermanic turtle soup.

HUGE CROWD.

The drive from Buckingham palace and return was witnessed by immense crowds. There was plenty of enthusiasm abroad, but it hardly reached the same volume as that attended the President's entry into London on Thursday. Announcement of the results of the general election was somewhat of a counter attraction today.

HARD FOR ASQUITH.

Beneath the surface of the formalities at the Mansion House an unusual episode of human interest was rippling—part happy, part tragic. Premier Lloyd George, who sat near the President, was claiming that the voters had renewed his lease of power by heavier majorities than political auguries had foretold. H. H. Asquith, his one time chief and rival of today, was seated nearby and heard that his political career of more than thirty years had been halted.

The day's official events were not limited to the two functions in the city. The president received and spoke to various delegations which presented addresses to the American embassy and tonight he dined at the premier's residence. In Downing street with the members of the cabinet.

TO MOTHER'S BIRTHPLACE

After the dinner he embarked for Carlisle, where tomorrow he will visit his mother's birthplace. On Monday he will be in Manchester for the great midland commercial city.

TO TALK IN MANCHESTER.

The president will make an oration in the Free Trade hall at Manchester, which holds 4,000 persons, and another speech at a luncheon where other delegations will be presented.

The president has not heard that the police took away red flags from a few women of foreign appearance in the crowds in the streets of London. The president has gone abroad.

100,000 LEAVE CAMP WEEK

Washington, Dec. 28.—A steady stream of troops from overseas and from camps is moving homeward.

With more than one million men designated for demobilization since the signing of the armistice, all efforts, General March, chief of staff said today, are being directed toward getting them out of service and back to the work in which they formerly were engaged. Already more than half the number designated have been discharged.

Meanwhile, additional units have been assigned for early conveyance home, and to expedite the movement fourteen battleships and ten cruisers have been turned out to the fleet of transports which will bring that part of the expeditionary forces not needed for duty with the army of occupation. Reports tonight from France showed that three more transports, with upwards of five thousand men, had sailed, and others will depart for home ports as rapidly as possible.

General March said the work of discharging men from camps was proceeding at the rate of about 100,000 a week.

WILL NOT SUPPORT LABOR PARTY

New York, Dec. 28.—The Executive council of the American Federation of Labor, at a special session here today, rejected a proposal calling for the formation of a National Labor party, but voted to send delegates to the International Labor conference to be held at Versailles next month.

Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, in a formal announcement after the meeting, said the council considered it is not the province of the central bodies and state federations to form or become part of a National Labor party, as the best interests of labor would be served by the more thorough organization of the workers, skilled and unskilled in the trades union movement. He added there was no objection to central or state organizations entering the political field, "either independently or otherwise."

LIEUT. McNULTA SEES KING GEORGE

While Latter was Visiting at Paris.

AT FAMOUS PLACES

Interesting Description of Scenes in France.

Lieut. Scott McNulta of this city, happened to be in Paris at the time of the visit of the king of England and his two sons and in an interest-

LIEUT. SCOTT McNULTA.

ing letter he describes that visit. In last Sunday's New York Times appears a picture of the chariot in which the king of England and the president of France were riding. In his letter Mr. McNulta makes mention of this carriage.

This was Mr. McNulta's first visit to Paris and he was much impressed with the beautiful and historical buildings, works of art, and so on that he saw.

His letter in part follows:

VISITED FAMOUS SPOTS.

"At five o'clock yesterday. Thanks giving day, I was in a first class compartment of a French train. It was dark outside and as we passed a freight train with cars marked
'U. S.' I might easily have thought I could look out on American Terra firma.

"At a o'clock I stood in a sightseeing bus, standing beside two of the seats, craning my neck to see all that was going on about me. Everywhere were people hurrying, pushing and crowding, ye loins!

"At 2 o'clock I was in a subway coach, speeding to the spot where I was at 3. At 1 o'clock I stood marvelling at the beauty and the significance of the most famous burial spot in the world—I stood wondering and thoughtful in Napoleon's tomb.
"In the Etoile, just to the side of the Arch de Triumph, I finally got a place, on the top of a Y. M. C. A. sight-seeing bus, to watch the King of England and his two sons enter Paris.

"The route of the procession, from the Bois De Boulogne around the Arch to the Champs Elysees, was lined on both sides by French chasseurs, mounted, each soldier having a tiny flag of red and white, and —when the King came—they held erect and made a straight line down

the side of the avenue.

"People were everywhere—in windows, on the Arch de Triumph, lambering all over motor cars, on roofs of hotels and buildings about.
Frenchmen were selling the right to use ladders to climb up into the trees.

"In contrast, the wide quiet avenue, kept wide and quiet by French soldiers—boot to boot on either side.
The day was rainy—"mauve temps"— you could hear every side. But the king rode in an open carriage, drawn by eight horses and, as he drove past, the clouds cleared noticably.

SAW THE KING.

"My glimpse of the King's phy-siognomy was not any too clear but I saw the Prince of Wales very distinctly. But the assemblage, the 'fete' as Paris called it—was memorable.

"At 3 o'clock the first cannon boomed and kept it up so long as I could hear. The King was at the Boulonne station at about a quarter till three.
A squadron of Parisian police came slowly along on bicycles five minutes later and on all hands 'Volla!'
—the chasseurs stiffened, the din of shouting increased a single line of French horsemen, the width of the avenue, a carriage with the King and President of France, another line of horsemen, a carriage with the Prince of Wales and Prince Albert, a long string of automobiles—and he procession was gone by.

"It is impossible to write the feeling I now have. I have tried to describe what I saw of the King's entry into Paris, although I have written it briefly of it. But that was only it in all the wonders which I saw.
There were sights of real beauty, there were sights which were of historical interest only. I looked at the ruins of a Roman building of 68
B. C. I slowly walked around Notre Dame; I sat in M. Clemenceau's seat in the Chamber of Deputies, I walked the length of the reception hall of the Palace of Luxembourg (after being in the French Senate). I hurt my neck looking up at the Eiffel Tower. So I will write on of the places I was and the places I saw. Everywhere

What's the Latest in Batteries?

Battery improvements are every-day affairs.

Important improvements come only once or twice in a decade.

Experts agree that the most important battery improvement in years is the perfection of Threaded Rubber Insulation by Willard—the invention that indefinitely postpones the need of battery insulation.

We carry a full stock of Bone Dry Batteries
—every one as brand new as the day it left the factory. You're protected against delay one that isn't in every sense brand new.

bits of history come back to me,
everywhere I was appalled—not only by the art and costliness and beauty of everything—but as much by the moment and import of affairs of men that had tramped in the places where I stood.

TOMB OF NAPOLEON.

"If ever I have stood in awe and reverence it was as I stood and thought and gazed in the Tomb of Napoleon and strolled around Notre Dame.

"The Louvre and the Museum of Luxembourg are both closed on account of the war.

"The actual casket in which Napoleon is buried was covered with sandbags was there, but the building is stunning and the altar erected in it, for the sole purpose of conducting his funeral is a marvel of beauty. It has a canopy of gold plate—all hand work—over bronze and is supported by 4, 12-inch black and white marble pillars. The whole is lighted by the sun's rays through four very famous amber windows.

The amber light—with a touch of blue from another window—falling on the black and gold of the altar makes a "tout ensemble" of tremendous beauty. The famed rose windows of Notre Dame were removed for fear of bombing so I did not see them.

"Notre Dame is fearfully dark inside, and to my mind not so beautiful there as the Cathedral here (Le-Mans) it, on the outside, however is unsurpassed by anything I have seen. There is uniformity of style and minute of execution that is marvelous. Way up on the roof, just where the transepts cross the nave, is a group of statuary—a most unexpected thing.

"The most beautiful room I saw was the reception hall in the Luxembourg. Gold is everywhere and in a smaller room at one end are four splendid paintings.

PROFUSION OF ART.

"Of art there is a profusion. Everywhere are statues and busts, both of famous people and of the fancy of artist's minds. I have never been more impressed by sculpture than by a group on the Arch de Triumph.

A giant in the "Jardin de Luxembourg" and a little group in front of the Luxembourg museum. The latter was an aged woman, battered and worn, being protected from the weather by the cloak of a young man. It was raining as I looked at it and the whole was bespattered with water, putting the pair in just the condition the artist imagined.
Given the conditions, the two seemed to me—at first—actually alive.

"The painting on the ceiling in Napoleon's Tomb was wonderful but I think the picture in the Sorbonne

(University of Paris) and some huge mural decorations in the University of Paris building, were the best I saw of that kind of work.

"I saw many trophies of war. The Champs Elysees—and that street is all it is cracked up to be—is lined with German cannon from the Place de Concorde to the Etoile. The Concorde is filled with cannon, mines, airplanes, etc. I saw the machine in which the famous Captain Guynemer of France got 19 Germans. I saw a captured German plane, equipped with American made, Continental tires.

"The subway system of Paris is a marvel. Also it is very easy to use.
The Seine is a modest little affair.

RECEIVES GIFT FROM EDDIE MACK

Noted Cartoonist Recalls Days at Sibley.

Frank J. Sagar, Wabash train dispatcher, last week received a Christmas token from Eddie Mack, cartoonist for the New York Journal and Chicago American. Mack, by the way is a cousin of Mr. Sagar's and the Christmas remembrance is an annual thing. It really comes to Mr. Sagar's father through F. J. and it may be said to be in recognition of the fact that the elder Mr. Sagar furnished the jacket by which the cartoonist climbed to fame.

When the Chicago American found Mack, he was painting barns about Sibley, where he lived. Mr. Sagar had a set of ladders and when the barn artist had a high job of painting to do he called on his uncle to borrow a ladder. Mack hadn't making carrying for a Johnston, Pa. paper. The job didn't pay much and he quit because he was refused more money.

HIS REQUEST.

Jobs as cartoonist were not hanging on every bush and Eddie Mack was a long time without another job. He hung around Sibley and took jobs of barn painting as the best thing in art that the town offered. He was at it when the Johnson-Jeffries fight was being arranged. The Chicago American announced that the fight would be staged in the town offering the biggest bonus and a guarantee that the battle would not be interfered with. Eddie Mack sent to the sporting editor a bid for Sibley for the fight. Sibley is a little station on the Wabash a few miles south of Forrest and would have as soon thought of asking for a battle of the Marne as it would for the biggest prize fight in the world.

Mack's bid was in the form of a cartoon, showing a twenty-four foot squared circle suspended from a balloon with two fighters on it battling for championship honors. The reply was a telegram asking him if he would come to Chicago at $50 a week. Would he? He replied by going.

Mack went to work on the American. He had been there but a short time when he was asked to sign a contract for three years. It looked good to him and he signed. A little later he was asked to extend the three year contract on a weekly scale of $100. By that time he was beginning to think better of himself and refused to sign. But he is now in New York and his weekly pay envelope now contains $200 unless it has been recently increased on account of the high cost of living.

At any rate $200 a week, $300 a month, $10,400 a year isn't bad. Every Christmas he remembers his uncle Sagar with a small sum of money which he calls tobacco money. He regards it as a sort of recompense for the use of those ladders.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AND DINNER

Alice and Russell Perkins.

These little tots had a delightful birthday dinner and Christmas party recently at their home, 1510 North Morgan street. At the birthday dinner Alice had a cake with two candles and Russell a cake had one candle. The birthdays of the children are close together so they were celebrated at the same time.

A feature of the Christmas party was a surprise box which contained a present for each one. Among the gifts received by each of the children was a $50 Liberty bond and $25 worth of war savings stamps, presented by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Perkins.

At Home Dec. 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Van Praag, who have been staying at the Colonial Inn for the past four months, will move into their own home 1004 North Monroe street on Dec. 31 where they will be pleased to again entertain their many friends.

HE DID NOT GET INTO THE FIGHT

Mrs. Ida Kaigley of Dalton City has received a letter from her son George, who is somewhere in France. The letter is as follows.

My dear Mother: I will drop you a few lines to let you know I am well and arrived safely in France. The Country here is far behind the good old U. S. A. The people here wear wooden shoes and the houses are built of stone and are about a thousand years old. England is a beautiful country. I believe I like it better than France. The weather is nice now, but it is getting colder. We have a frost every night. The boys who were here last winter say the winters are short.

I love to talk to the fellows who have been to the front. They sure have interesting stories to tell. My only disappointment is that I didn't get into the fight. I go to a show about every night at the Y. M. C. A. I don't know what we would do without the Y. M. C. A. the Salvation Army and the Red Cross. They have really done their part. You can find them any place you go here.

I would like to be at home now shucking corn. To hear the hubbub on the old bump board would sound like music to me. I am going to school now learning about machine guns. Tell everybody to write to me. I receive very few letters from the States and would love so much to hear from everybody. My address is:

PVT. GEORGE B. KAIGLEY,
Bat. A. 137 F. A.

A. P. O. 779, Am. E. F.

Will close now hoping to hear from you soon with love.

Your son,

"GEORGE"

Pvt. Kaigley's home is now in Dalton City. He formerly lived in Decatur and has three sisters here now. They are Mrs. B. Akers, 1385 West Forrest, Mrs. E. Richards, 1486 North Morgan, and Mrs. Paul Rokosh, 1929 East Main St.

No Sunday School.

The Oak Grove Union Sunday school will not have a meeting Sunday as there is so much sickness in that neighborhood.

PARTY FOR SON AND HIS WIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Harris.

A dinner was given recently by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harris, 555 South Broadway, in honor of their son, Clifford, who observed his twenty-first birthday. It was also for his wife, to whom he was married four months ago.

About twenty guests were present. The couple received many useful gifts.

G. Thompson A. G. M.

George Thompson, who is well remembered by many Wabash men as trainmaster on the west end, has been appointed assistant general manager of the Santa Fe lines west of Mr. Thompson was trainmaster here under Superintendent W. A. Garrett and had many friends in Decatur. His appointment as assistant general manager of the Santa Fe was made about a week ago. His headquarters are at Amarillo, Tex.

ST. HELENA PREPARES FOR THE EX-KAISER; ISLANDERS BELIEVE HE IS COMING THERE

Prisoners being landed at St. Helena. The ships cannot approach the dock because the water is so shallow; hence the prisoners are loaded into small boats. This is the manner in which the kaiser probably will be landed if he is sent to the Island prison where Napoleon died.

Napoleon's Tomb, St. Helena.

Jamestown, St. Helena.

Jamestown, St. Helena—St. Helena, site of Napoleon's exile, is getting ready to receive William Hohenzollern.

The island's 4000 inhabitants—muleteers, plantation owners, soldiers, even the Boer and Zulu political prisoners from South Africa—confidently expect the ex-kaiser will soon be brought here to end his days.

At the St. Helena club, officers in khaki wonder whether the head of the Huns will occupy Longwood, which was Napoleon's home from 1815 to 1821, or Kingshouse, which sheltered Piet Cronje, the famous Boer leader.

Longwood is a more spacious and dignified, Kingshouse the more comfortable.

TOO GOOD FOR HIM

Either is too good for him, says the St. Helena Advertiser, while the Guardian, the other weekly paper, asserts that, if the people of Jamestown and the back country are to be Wilhelm's hosts, they must treat him as politely but as firmly as possible.

Not since 1801 has there been so much excitement here. In that year, it was reported among Boer prisoners and the part-Dutch islanders that Germany, friend of the Boers, was about to intervene in their war against Great Britain. Secret watch was kept from an island peak for the German fleet—which never came.

Longwood, if the kaiser is sent there, will be found a rambling story-and-a-half structure, on the plateau that embraces much of the island, about three miles southeast of Jamestown, the only town. The name was originally that of a wooded farm. The house which Napoleon occupied was built in the eighteenth century, and, until Napoleon's arrival, was the home of the vice-governor.

Nearby is another structure known as "Longwood New House" to distinguish it from the "old house" in which Napoleon lived.

Napoleon's tomb is in a wooded glen half a mile away. His body is no longer there, having been removed to France in 1840.

Recalling that the savage Zulus imprisoned here in the 19th century accepted civilization and helped Britain rule their native countrymen after their return to Africa, the St. Helena Guardian remarks:

"It is quite possible that, bearing our experience with the black Zulus in mind, we St. Helenians may succeed in civilizing the blacker kaiser!"

There is hardly a day in history when the island has not been the prison of some enemy of Britain. The present captives are participants in the pro-German revolt of a Boer faction in South Africa in 1916.

Hohenzollern's chance of escaping, if he is brought to St. Helena, is very slight. The nearest land is the British island of Ascension, 700 miles. Africa is 1200 miles, South America 1800 miles away.

St. Helena, discovered by the Portuguese in 1502, was settled by the Dutch in 1651, and taken by the British in 1657. The Dutch have captured it several times. The natives have much Dutch blood. There are also many negroes, descendants of slaves.

COMPANY OF 250
CUT DOWN TO 29

In One Hour and 45 Minutes, at Soissons.

Henry Downham, 250 West Wood street, has received a letter from his son, Milton M. Downham, who is now with a division following up the Germans. He was at Keledorf, Luxemburg, at the time he wrote the letter. In one battle that his company was in, out of 250 men in his company there were only twenty-nine at the end of one hour and forty-five minutes. He writes as follows:

"Dear Father: Just a few lines to let you know I am still alive and happy and will tell you a few things about France. I landed at St. Nazaire. From there I rode two days in a box car, 16 by 20, with thirty-six men in it, to Robe Court, and on the fifteenth of March we went to the trenches at Verdun where we stayed for three months, then to a place near Barleduc for two weeks rest, and on the first of June we were put into the lines at Chateau-Thierry, where we stayed forty-five days. From there we went to Soissons on July 19. That is where my company of 250 men was cut down to about twenty-nine in one hour and forty-five minutes, and, believe me, that is quick work. From Soissons we went to Billiers for a week or two, then to Pont A. Mouson in the Moselle region for a couple of weeks, and back in again at St. Mihiel. From there the French asked us in reserve and they shot us in against Chapagne, from there back to a town near Shalon, and from there back into Champagne, just twelve miles from the lines, and we were relieved and started a hike back, sixty-five miles. Got back and they put us in auto trucks, and sent us to the Argonne sector and then "Finis La Guerre." The armistice was signed just two hours after our last battle and it was an awful battle, too, believe me.

FOLLOWING UP HUNS

"I have never been wounded, but I have been pretty badly scared. My division is following up the Huns and we are only two kilometers from the old Luxemburg German border line now, but I have a long way to go yet before I get to the Rhine. I was in the City of Etelbruck two days ago, and they have quite a few people there that are American citizens that came over here before the war and live in neutral Luxemburg. It is a very fine city.

"Well, Father, reveille is at 6 a. m. tomorrow, and I am very sleepy so will close, with love,

Your son,

"MILTON."

Thrilling Moment in the Fight Between Pal Moore and Jimmy Wilde

The cables have told the story of how the hitherto unbeaten flyweight, Jimmy Wilde, went down to defeat at the hands of Pal Moore, American blue-jacket.

What they did not tell us so graphically as our picture shows, was how Moore outfought his British antagonist.

Looking as the picture it is readily seen that Wilde has apparently blocked Pal's lead, they are left in such a position that Moore is all set for terrific smash with his right, while Wilde has only his left to counter with.

FOX GETS AWAY, 250 HUNTERS SAD

Assumption "Round up" Fizzle—Will Try Again.

Assumption, Dec. 28.—Three ely foxes, a mother and her two half grown young ones, "put one over" completely on 250 "hunters" who took part in the big fox hunt staged north of town today for they escaped a cordon of men six deep with as much ease as though they were jumping a barn yard fence.

ARMED WITH CLUBS—NO GUNS.
With all fairness to the Assumption hunters it should be understood that each of the 250 men carried only a club. No guns were allowed. Thus being unacquainted with the prehistoric weapon the local farmers were handicapped.

WILL TRY AGAIN.
The hunters believe in the old axiom and will try again and announce that on next Saturday, Jan. 4, the hunt will be repeated. Jacob Bilbey, a well known farmer of this community was marshal of the anti-fox forces today and no reflections can be cast on his work. He named captains who assisted in directing the men "in beating the brush" in the nine sections of land on which the drive was conducted. The men spread out over the wide area and then slowly began moving, starting at 9:30 a. m. toward the center of the big group of fields. In the center, a den or fox shelter had been built and on top the Stars and Stripes floated. Within a short time the two young foxes were sighted but they were too quick and easily escaped "through the lines."

MOTHER FOX ARTFUL DODGER.
Along towards noon the mother fox was discovered, just as the men were beginning to bunch up near the "fox retreat." The capture looked like a "cinch" as the men closed in on Mrs. Fox. Closer and closer they stealthily moved toward her and in mass formation they hurried themselves in the direction they thought she would try to escape. Then quick as a flash she darted in an opposite direction and escaped.

The men greatly enjoyed the hunt and will invite the women to take part in next Saturday's chase.

MORTON MARKWELL DEAD.
Morton Markwell, a young farmer, who until about a year ago resided on a farm five miles north of here, died in a sanitarium in Springfield Saturday. News of the death was received here tonight. He was 30 years old. The body will be brought to this city for burial.

SERVED CANDY CANES.
Refreshments served were candy canes which the "children" sucked during the evening. Dancing and cards were indulged in after the play.

MOOSE DANCE ON TUESDAY NIGHT
Members of the Moose lodge will hold their annual dance in the lodge hall Tuesday evening from 8 to 12 o'clock. As the new year arrives some suitable celebration will be held. White's orchestra will play and a large attendance is expected.

ATTORNEY DIES AT TAYLORVILLE

Assumption, Dec. 28.—George Wallace, prominent attorney of Taylorville, died in his home in that city Saturday afternoon. He had been a sufferer from asthma for several years and a few days ago contracted Spanish influenza, from which death resulted. He was about 45 years old. Mr. Wallace was reared in Assumption and after his graduation from law college located in Taylorville, where he established a lucrative law practice. He formerly was a law partner of Attorney John Hogan of Taylorville. He leave his wife and two brothers, William and Fitch Wallace of this place. The Wallace family was one of the pioneer families of this city.

The funeral of George T. Wallace will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the family residence, 411 South Clay street. Rev. John Ruck, pastor of the Presbyterian church will officiate and interment will follow in Oak Hill cemetery.

MR. AND MRS. FRED GALKA RETURN

Decatur Man and Wife Both Employed at Washington.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Galka of Washington, D. C., are in Decatur spending the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Galka, of East Orchard street, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Watson, 1711 East Decatur street. Mr. Galka has been employed as a gun maker in the navy yards at Washington and Mrs. Galka has been employed in the government offices. Mr. Galka has received his release at Washington and he and his wife will probably locate in Decatur.

NEWS OF WORLD IN FEW LINES

A. Stamford White, late president Chicago board of trade, had $102,900 in Liberty bonds. Inventory of estate shows.
Northern Ukraine bands are threatening town of Koval, says Warsaw dispatch.
Total of 2300 cars loaded with explosives were left on Belgian railways by Germans.
More than 8,000 tons of U. S. Red Cross supplies have been shipped to Vladivostok since Sept. 15.

ST. JOHN'S HOLDS CHRISTMAS PARTY
The St. John's Sunday School held its Christmas program at the Y. W. C. A. Saturday afternoon. There was a good sized attendance. Christmas stories were told by Virginia Daldwin, Lillian Paisley and Lucile Greider. Games, led by Jane Curtis and Francis Chenoweth, were played during the afternoon.
Refreshments were served and each child carried home a very attractive bag of delicious candy. Mrs. Curtis made the bags of cheesecloth in many colors.

RAY BLACK IS UNDER ARREST

Charged With Getting Money by False Pretense

Ray Black, aged eighteen, living at 1239 East Marietta street, was arrested Saturday evening and turned over to Sheriff Penwell on a "wants" warrant charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses. Black and Mr. Doll are both employed at the Wabash round house. According to Mr. Doll's story to the police, Black called Mrs. Doll over the telephone told her it was Mr. Doll talking and said that he was called to St. Louis right away and needed $25. He said he would send a messenger after the money.
In a little while a boy called at the Doll residence and Mrs. Doll handed him an envelope containing the $25. The messenger, it is claimed, was a little brother of Black, and it is said that when the little fellow was asked about it he admitted going on the errand and said his brother sent him.

If Groh supplants Matty he will be the third former Giant to manage the Cincinnati team in the last six years. Heinie went to the Reds along with Josh Devore and Leon Ames for pitcher Arthur Fromme, who proved a dismal failure with the Giants.

MOLINE KNIGHT SEDAN

The Economy of Quality In Motor Cars

If the war has taught ONE lesson more forcibly than any other it is that REAL ECONOMY lies NOT in buying the Cheapest, but in purchasing the BEST—provided, of course, you do not discard your purchase before it is worn out at a big price sacrifice.

In clothing, hats, shoes, etc., true THRIFT has been found to dictate the purchase of BETTER things—but FEWER things.

Just so with motor cars. The BEST is the MOST ECONOMICAL.

We do not mean that you should buy from the price tag alone. If we did you would not buy a Moline-Knight, for it is NOT the most expensive car, any more than it is the cheapest.

Judge a car from the standpoint of the use you expect to make of it. Consider QUALITY, POWER, PERFORMANCE, APPEARANCE, SERVICE, ECONOMY—and let the price take care of itself.

Judging cars in this manner has wonderfully increased the demand for Moline-Knights of ALL models. We believe that it is the car YOU will select if you buy from the standpoint of ECONOMY.

RUTH LAVERY MAKES BIG HIT

Decatur Girl Praised in Meridian, Miss.

IN CONCERT COMPANY

Mrs. G. A. Lowery Returns from South.

Mrs. George A. Lavery has just returned to Decatur after a brief visit with her daughter, Miss Ruth Lavery at Meridian, Miss. Miss Lavery is a violinist of much ability and is at present traveling with the Sam Lewis Concert company through the south and west.

Mrs. Lavery brought home with her a copy of the Meridian Star which speaks in exceedingly high terms of the playing of Miss Lavery. The concert was given at Meridian on Monday evening. Later Mrs. Lavery accompanied the concert party to Jackson and left them there.

ON LONG TRIP. The Sam Lewis company has arranged a tour of Oklahoma and Kansas and later they expect to play through a part of Illinois. From here they will go to California and thence back through Canada. The Meridian Star had the following to say of the work of the Sam Lewis artists:

"Every one of the company are artists and from the first number on the program, 'The Service Flag,' given by Miss Amber Hopkins, reader, with piano and violin accompaniment by Misses Harruff and Lavery to the ensemble singing of America in which the audience was asked to join which concluded the program, the performers held their hearers spell-bound."

"Mr. Lewis, the Welsh tenor, may rightly be called the 'John McCormack of the lyceum,' for the artistry with which he sang, the range of his voice, the resonance and depth of best were the ever favorite Duke's aria from 'Rigoletto,' and a group of new war songs which showed to a splendid advantage the dramatic quality of his voice. The group included 'The Trumpeter,' by Dix; 'A Khaki Lad,' by Alward and 'A Toast to the Rainbow Division,' by Ezambic. 'Miss Amber Hopkins, the reader, with a charming stage appearance and beautifully modulated voice, was a favorite from her first number. She gave 'A Tragedy of Gowns,' beautifully, but possibly the number that pleased best was 'In Flanders Field,' and 'The Answer,' with violin and piano accompaniment.

FOR MISS LAVERY. "The violinist, Miss Ruth Lavery, sustained the reputation that preceded her and last evening added new laurels to her already large store. The clear, sweet tones and the exquisite wielding of the bow showed her to be a violinist of great talent and critics predict for her a great future.

"All of her numbers were beautiful but especially sweet and appealing were the dulcet notes of Victor Herbert's 'Serenade,' and 'A Love Song,' by Elman.

"Too much cannot be said of the accompanist, Miss Irene Harruff. She was sympathetic and sustained the performers throughout the evening. She has a beautiful soprano voice and was heard in a number of solos. She gave 'Caro Nome,' from Rigoletti beautifully, the flexibility and delicacy of her voice showing to fine advantage in the cadenzas and thrills of the aria 'A Little Damsel,' by Novello was also excellently given.

"The program of Monday evening was a genuine treat and those who missed it missed one of the best attractions offered by the lyceum association."

"Here, waiter," said the rude man in the cafe, "tell the orchestra to play 'Carmen' while I eat this beefsteak."

Critics Say Bonet Surpasses all Since Guilman

Joseph Bonet, who will appear in an organ recital in Decatur on Jan. 10, is easily the world's greatest concert organist. He has appeared in New York City just recently and at that time the greatest critics said that he is not only the greatest organist of the present time, but that he is the greatest French organist since the time of Guilman.

Those in charge of the article's course here feel that they have been most fortunate in securing Mr. Bonet and are working to make the recital a successful one.

HAD TO HUNT HIS COMPANY

Train Pulled Out and Left Him Behind.
WM. DUNCAN WRITES

Of Many Experiences in France.

George Duncan has just received a Dad's Christmas letter from his son, Sergeant William Duncan, who is with the American Expeditionary Forces in France. Sergeant Duncan has seen some fighting, but just before the signing of the armistice he was assigned to an officers' training school, and at the time of writing was still there. Sergeant Duncan tells of the moves of their division from the time that they left the New York harbor in May until he left the division at Metz in November. His letter telling of his many experiences follows:

DAD'S LETTER.

Nov. 24, 1918.

"Well, the lid's off the can, now, Dad, and we can write anything that we care to, from Latrine dope to the truest of tales. I saw an announcement in our paper, the Stars and Stripes, to the effect that the ban would be raised on censorship for this one occasion, and thus you can understand the 'freedom of speech.' I don't know whether there has been any notice of this proceeding in the states or not, but this is what is called a 'Dad's Christmas Victory Letter,' so you can bet that any of the following is true. Some of it may sound or read like 'bull' to you but just wait until I get home, I'll bet I make this look sick."

"Now to begin with, we left Camp Upton on May 16, and that is the day that our overseas duty began. On Nov. 16, just six months from the day that we entered foreign service, we were allowed to sew on our six months' service stripes. Believe me, I sure think that little gold stripe, and everyone has earned it. There are very few of the originals left, and I can say that I am thankful that I am one of that number. As far as I know George is all O. K., and I know for a fact that our battalion passed through this town, Laugers, on its way south this morning. I was down in another barracks taking a bath to get rid of the rest of my pets, cooties, and I think that I have succeeded this time."

"But to get back to the battalion. After my bath I went to town to get some stuff, and ran across two fellows from our battalion who had dropped off the train here to have a good time and they told me all of the late news. The outfit went over the top for the last time on the morning of Nov. 11, and some parts of the division lost heavily, but they were all new men, replacements, so may be that our division will beat me home—but hold on a minute, may be I had better do a little explaining. I am at an officers' training school, at Laugers, France, and as our course runs three months I am likely to be a little slow in returning. Now I hesitate to do a little explaining, but I can write, but rest assured that I can not begin to tell it all."

ON BIG BOAT.

"We pulled out of New York City harbor on May 16, and every one was made to stay under cover. We sailed on the interned ship Kron Princessa Cocco (renamed the Mount Vernon), one of the largest and fastest ships afloat. Six thousand men, including the ship's crew, and the Lord knows, it was a good thing that she was fast, or we would never have outlasted the voyage. But that is merely one of the incidents of war."

"We ate in what was known as five sittings, or in other words five gangs, and I was in the fifth. We had to wait until the rest had eaten before we went down to eat, and then we got the second out—George and I got foul from lack of ventilation that after the first time down I never went down again. The officers ate in a private salon, and their food was cooked by Alabama darkies, so one day—the second out—George and I bought ourselves a big baked hen, a pig and a loaf of bread paying the neat tidy sum of $10 for the lay out. We were sleeping in shifts and our bunks occupied the entire deck. We were occupied at night by another outfit. You could not keep a thing for every one was stealing all they could get their hands on, and we were up a tree as to what to do. But just then I was ordered to report up on the upper boat deck as a lookout, and we were given a good bunk house to ourselves. Thus I had a safe place to keep the eats. Well, we lived on those eats, and a little that was at the sailors' canteen on the ship."

CROSSED IN 8 DAYS.

"I did lookout duty in the crow's nest on the fore-mast, having to do four hours, and that was just fine. It was pretty high up, and it was pretty cool but outside of one day when the ship pitched I thought that sure I was going into the sea, and was pretty sick when my time was up, but I stuck it out. We were on lookout for subs but never sighted one, and were only eight days in crossing. We sighted land on the morning of May 24, and in a couple of hours sailed or rather steamed in to the harbor at Brest, France. The bay was simply alive with American troop ships, and we had to lay there two days before we could reach the pier to land. We landed on the old wall that they called a pier, and which was supposed to have been built by Julius Caesar during his wars with Great Britain. Well, it sure looked the part. We entered the town up a road that was worse than any hill I had ever seen. In fact it was nearly perpendicular, and all along it were French kiddies, each one holding out his hand asking for pennies or cigarets."

RODE IN BOX CARS.

"We marched about eight miles to an old fort supposed to have been built by Napoleon I. We camped there about a week, then were marched back over the same road and loaded into French box cars, 40 men to a car, and the cars were about 10 feet by 25 feet, so you can see how much room we had. Traveled for three days and landed at a place called Clemonet, in the northern part of France. Hiked all day and were billeted in an old village in barns, the place being called Cerisy Beuleux."

LEFT BEHIND.

"After I had been there a week an order came through to send three men away for gas instruction, and I was one of the three chosen. We thought we were going into the lines and we were issued ammunition and pistols. Left there early on a Sunday morning, I think the date was June 6, and walked to a large place called Abbeville, where we again entrained on a string of box cars. We lay in the yards for about four hours, and still there was no sign of our leaving, so I hiked over to a Y. M. C. A. and got something to eat, and sure enough the darn thing pulled out while I was gone, and I was left behind. I had left all of my stuff in the car, and had only my cap on, but the other fellows from my company were there so I knew that my stuff was safe. My main worry was to know where they were going. All I knew was that they were headed for a gas school, and that I was lost. I got hold of a British lieutenant who had charge of the railway transport, told him my plight, and he said 'he knew where to send me, but I would have to wait until the next day to catch a train.'"

AIR RAID.

"I found a place to sleep, and that night I was in my first air raid. About 10 o'clock I heard a whistle blow, and the order came 'Lights out, enemy planes overhead.' I ran out of doors along with some Scotchmen to see the show, and talk about the wonderful spectacle. You could hear the humming of the motors of the planes, and all about was as black as ink. Stars shown brightly, but the moon was not up. All was still except the men, and they talked in low tones or whispers as though the Boche aviators could have heard them. All about was an unseen, intense feeling of excitement, such a thrill as only great danger can bring, and all of the men were wondering where he would drop the bombs. All the while the noise of the motor seemed to get louder, and more distinct, and there was also wondering as to why the anti-aircraft batteries of guns and searchlights did not open up. Then as if by magic dazzling rays of bright white lights seemed to leap into the air, and immediately the beams began an intricate maze or criss-crossing in an effort to locate the planes so the guns could open up fire. Then I heard a peculiar noise, a cross between a hiss, as of escaping steam, and the rush of wind in a storm, and subconsciously I knew it was a bomb. The first one dropped, as I found next day, on the cathedral roof, making a very large hole, and practically wrecking the interior. Immediately following the explosion they located one plane in a crossing of two lights and the guns opened fire. Machine guns—hot tracer bullets at him which up—touching him would have set him aflame, and the bursting of the shrapnel in the air reminded you of a great Fourth of July celebration. The aviator shot out a rocket that burst in stars, and I suppose was some sort of pre-arranged signal, for they all flew away. But in the meantime the other planes in the squadron had not been idle, and one of their bombs killed fourteen English women known as 'waacs'. The initials W. A. A. C. being the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps, an organization formed in England for behind the lines service. It sure made the Tommies hot."

WRONG PLACE.

"Well, next day I caught the train to Nuvion, a small burg up the line, and found my outfit was not there, nor expected there. I snooped around some more and found there was another school at St. Valery's, a good sized town thirty miles from there, and decided I would go there, but the officers in the school said no, that I couldn't go. But they were British, and I was a Yank, and I figured that I didn't want to stay there, so I studied the best route to go and I went. I got there about midnight and on inquiry made my way to the school. Found where our men were and went to bed. All of my stuff was there and I was O. K. We were right across the channel, an hour's ride from England. We were there a week and then rejoined our company at Grandcourt, a small place thirty miles from Cerisy, the battalion having hiked there in one day with heavy packs. George having carried two bags part of the way. We were there until June 12, and then moved to Point Remy to a machine gun range, practiced a week, and moved again to Mollens au Bois, near Amiens. We dug in there and were bombed about every other night but never lost any men. On July 4 we celebrated by making an attack on the Albert-Amiens front with the Tommies and Australians. Our whole division being engaged. As we were green men we were only to go one mile and the Tommies were to finish the attack. We had no barrage by the artillery, and before we had gone a mile we had left the Tommies behind and instead of stopping we went ahead and captured the objective. Iose but a very few men in our battalion and the Tommies never did show up."

"That settled them as far as we were concerned and all the fellows sure hated them after that. Our infantry took Cheppy Ridge after the Australians and Tommies, all seasoned veterans, had failed repeatedly."

INSPECTOR VANISHES.

"We did our turn in the trenches then for a month, and one thing that I will never forget was a British lieutenant who used to inspect us. I guess he was near nuts as it was, for the Yanks did about as they pleased, and he could not handle them as he did his own men. We always had an inspection every morning at 9, and as we were armed with pistols he would inspect them. He would line us up in the trenches and as he passed each man would draw his pistol and raise it to his shoulder high, barrel up, so he could take it. One morning one of the fellows had been sitting on the top step of our dugout shaving, and when he finished, he carelessly emptied his water in the trench opposite the mouth of the dugout. All of the land was yellow clay and a drop of water would make a slippery place so you can imagine what a cup of it did. He went to get a shovel to clean it up, and one of the other fellows went with him. While he was gone the lieutenant hove in sight, and we lined up. It happened that our middle was about in front of the dugout, and the spot was in A No. 1 condition. He started down the line, and the first fellow he hit was Rolfe Workman. His pistol was dirty so he caught—on down the line the lieutenant came. Just as he got in front of the dugout he slipped, and down he went. Workman jumped out and yelled: 'Push him down the coal chute.' (the dugout entrance) and all the other fellows took turns throwing fits of laughing. The lieutenant jumped up, gave one look at the gang, and bolted down the trench. He had only made the first turn when he encountered the two fellows coming back with the shovel. They sprang to attention and drew their pistols to be inspected, and I guess the poor lieutenant thought that he was done for, because he jumped over the parapet, and we were never bothered with him again. We looked to catch the duce from our skipper, but we never heard from it."

OVER THE TOP.

"We moved from there to the Verdun front, and on Sept. 26 went over the top again capturing Forges Wood near Verdun. Shot my only German there, a sniper in a tree, but as a dose on others shot at him at the same time I won't say that I hit him first. On Oct. 24 we went over the top at Breuille Woods, again at Qonnsway's on Oct. 8, and each morning of the three succeeding days."

"I left the outfit at the St. Mihiel sector just in front of Metz, on Nov. 9, and heard since that they won over the top on Nov. 11. We were not it in the neck as out of our division in six months we were hit for 30,000 men. We have about 3,000 left of our original gang. But they are all game, and the Yanks won the war."

Put Your Cash Xmas Gift Into War Savings Stamps

—and Help Decatur and Macon County Go "Over The Top!"

We agreed to take $1,200,000 worth of WAR SAVINGS STAMPS, but we are still many thousands shy of the mark.

We have just three more days in which to make our performance measure up to our promise.

If everybody "stands pat" and leaves it to the "other fellow," this community's war record will slump with a dull thud.

They'll say we were grand little starters, but that we finished like a "selling plater."

You people who received cash presents for Christmas, you who received a bonus of cash—everybody who has $4.23, or more, in cash—especially you who pledged Stamps and haven't yet put up the money—ought to do your part toward finishing this job that we've set our hands to.

It's YOUR duty and the "other fellow's" too.

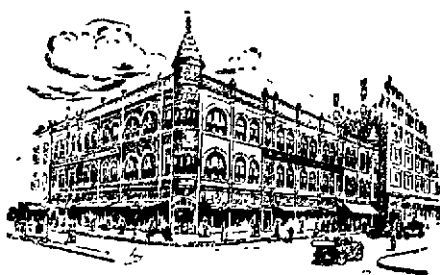

—And Don't Forget That War Savings Stamps Bear the Very Highest Interest Rate of Any Government Security

They're non-taxable. They're so good that if the limit that any individual can own wasn't a thousand dollars the big-money man would jump at the chance to buy your share. You wouldn't have a "look in."

When you buy WAR SAVINGS STAMPS you are putting your money into the soundest six per cent investment ever put on the market.

The Chance of a lifetime may come to you Tomorrow

When the clock strikes eight and we open our Mid-Winter Term!

One hour probably seems just like any other hour when marked on the open face of your timepiece. But there are times, in your affairs and mine, which offer unusual opportunities and we must be watchful and discern them.

Opportunity carries no rubber-stamp to mark value. She must be "challenged, chased and captured" by straight, clear thinking and well-directed energy.

Being constantly on the watch—like the alert soldier on picket—we try to do our best in seizing opportunities. Being thus on the watch and hard at it early and late is the only way we know of to win success in the school business.

Sputtering, spasmodic action never gets very far, but honest, intensified, well-directed effort does get there almost always.

Your opportunity for a thorough training for business is right here—now—in the Brown School. We solicit the opportunity of proving it to you.

ELKS PLAN FOR BUFFALO DINNER

Several Hundred People Expected to Attend.

WHILE family reunions were numerous on Christmas and there were many small informal "get together" parties, Christmas week passed with almost no large events of a social nature, and little is promised for the coming week. A few holiday affairs are being planned, but outside of the Elks New Year's banquet and dance at the Decatur club New Year's ball, there will be little in the way of large gatherings.

The New Year's ball at the Decatur club will take place Tuesday evening at the club rooms. The hours will be from 8 to 12:30. The following day, New Year's day there will be New Year's open house for members and friends.

The club rooms will be prettily decorated with Christmas greens for the New Year's events. During the ball Tuesday evening refreshments will be served.

There are six or seven applications for membership to be voted on at the next meeting of the club. While new members have been received right along, this is the largest number to be taken in at one time for some time.

The Elks will have their buffalo dinner Tuesday evening, and as the women have been invited, it is expected there will be several hundred in attendance. On New Year's day there will be open house, supper will be served in the evening, and the New Year's dance will take place at night. Hours will be from 8 to 12.

Preparations are being made to care for 550 to 600 people at the buffalo roast at the Elks club New Year's eve. The buffalo meat will be roasted in big bakery ovens and the rest of the dinner will be gotten up by Sherman Strouse who is now manager of the cafe at the club.

The menu in addition to the buffalo meat will include oyster cocktail, candied sweet potatoes, jellied cranberries, salad and the other trimmings for such a dinner.

The ladies will be served in the upper dining room and the dinner will be started at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY PLANNED

THE annual Christmas party of the Double Four Bridge club was held Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bachman and it was a most enjoyable event. All the members of the club with their families were present, making thirty-six people altogether.

A Christmas pie was one of the features of the evening. It contained a gift for everyone. Some of the gifts were jokes while others were nice articles. For parents and children joined to the frolic of games, and everybody took part in a sing, the community song books being used. Delicious refreshments were served.

The house presented a very pretty appearance with its holly wreaths and red candles all about the rooms.

Mrs. F. M. Lindsay entertained with a small dinner party Saturday evening at her home, guests from away being Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Bassett of El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartzell, Jr., of Washington, and Mrs. Albert Barnes Reall, who are spending the holiday here.

The W. G. Bachman and C. F. Bachman families had Christmas dinner with the Adolph Mueller family Wednesday.

WILL ENTERTAIN AT BOX PARTY

MR. AND MRS. A. M. KENNEY will have a theater box party for "Flo Flo" at the Lincoln Square theater Monday night which will include their two daughters and their husbands and their son and his wife, with the parents of the young people also.

The party will consist of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Suffer, Lieutenant and Miss Jack Pover, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Lyon, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kenney.

MISS MARY W. FRENCH returned to Decatur Friday night after spending about six weeks in Oak

FIRST BABY OF THE FRENCH HIGH COMMISSION IN WASHINGTON

Madame Jacques Boyriven, wife of Captain Boyriven, an aviator attached to the French high commission in Washington, and their baby, Rene.

The French high commission has a baby—the first born since the commission came to Washington from France.

That is to say, a member of the commission is the papa of a girl baby. He is Captain Jacques Boyriven of the aviation section of the commission.

His wife, a bride of a little more than a year, is a beautiful Parisienne who accompanied the captain to this country last year. The baby was born in their Washington home two months ago and has just had her first picture taken. Here it is. Baby's name is Rene. And isn't she just too "cute for anything"?

Paul with her brother. She went up to Oak Park just before Thanksgiving and remained over Christmas. On Christmas night her brother received a letter from his son, Walter H. French, who is in the army as a member of a band. He wrote that he had been sent to Brest, France, and was there for some time, on his way to naval base No. 27. He did not know then where naval base was, but at last he was sent to Plymouth, England and found that was the place. He wrote that they were to spend Christmas in London, so his home folks suppose that he was likely in the review that greeted President Wilson there on Christmas.

Miss French expects to remain in Decatur the rest of the winter.

Miss Isabel Dawson entertained a few intimate friends at tea Friday afternoon at her home. Hours were from 4 to 6. The house was decorated with Christmas effects. Out of town guests were Mr. Olo Jordan of Taylorville and Lois Todd of Sullivan.

Captain W. W. Brothers arrives Sunday morning from Ft. Riley, Kansas, to spend a five-day furlough with his wife and baby daughter who are visiting her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Elkin Chandler, 233 South Edward street, Captain Brothers is now in charge of several surgical wards at the base hospital at Fort Riley.

MRS. OGLESBY SUGGESTS MONUMENT

MRS. EMMA G. OGLESBY of Elkhart, widow of former governor Richard J. Oglesby of Illinois, writes the Chicago Tribune relative to a soldier's monument. Her letter follows:

"Elkhart, Ind., Dec. 21. I would like to see an agricultural palace to commemorate the work of our brave and gallant soldiers in the war for freedom of the world—the corridor broad, noble and beautiful, lined with dark marbles and marble tablets inset with the names written in gold of our heroes, built in Grant park. The corridor should run from west to east, opening to beautiful Lake Michigan. Military strength and valor are built on food, and America has fed and will feed the world. What place so fitting for this memorial as Chicago? Mrs. E. G. Oglesby."

Miss Caroline Lutz, who has been ill at Richmond, Va., is improving and will probably leave the sanatorium in the latter part of this week. Her mother, Mrs. M. Lutz, is still with her. Their plans are still indefinite but it is possible they may go to Florida for the rest of the winter.

MR. AND MRS. C. N. BASSETT expect to leave Monday for their home in El Paso, Tex., after their visit at the Theron Powers home. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartzell, Jr., who also were guests of the Powers' over Christmas, will leave on Tuesday.

TALKS FRENCH TO SEVENTY GIRLS

Still Chester Coleman Prefers Decatur.

Chester T. Coleman of Blue Mound township writes from Issur-tille, France, that he is inspector of rifles and has seventy-five French girls and women working for him. He is with advance ordnance depot No. 1, A. P. O. No. 112. The ban is now lifted and they are permitted to tell where they are and what they are doing. He was with the first contingent sent from Kentucky to the mechanical school at Camp Bradley, Florida. After ten weeks of intensive training there he was assigned to the ordnance department and sent to Camp Hancock. In a recent letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Coleman, he tells of his itinerary after leaving the U. S. as follows: "We left the states July 21 landing at Brest, France, Aug. 12. We remained there several days and were then sent to Meunier. We did not do much there and came on here to Issur-tille, Cote d'Or. Here we have been since Sept. 1. "I carried a rifle for a short time, and was then put into what is known as the small arms repair shop. I was then made inspector of rifle barrels with about thirty French girls and women under me. The big boss as well as myself can speak French. The force kept increasing until there are now about seventy-five under us. Our ordnance unit is breaking camp here and I think we will get rid of the girls about Saturday. Don't know just when or where we will go but I am hoping that it is my first step homeward. One can have lots of fun with the French girls but they don't appeal to me in any way. I will take the girls of the grand old U. S. A. for mine. "I told you in my last letter that I would send you a little present this week but I have found out that it is better to hold it until I can give it to you in person. "There are a lot of wild rumors about when and how we are going to get home. Well, that is not worrying me one bit for I think that the doughboys ought to get the first chance at that. Then we will get our chance sooner than we will expect. There is a fellow working with me who is all fussed up and afraid that he will have to stay over here ten or twelve months. He surely is some homesick. I would love to be at home as well as anybody but so far I am not the least bit homesick. "It certainly has been fine weather here, but cold until this week. It has rained a good deal of the time this week and is very muddy. Of course we have rain coats, rubber overshoes and boots so why should we worry? "Well, today was Thanksgiving and I can tell you we are thankful that we are all alive and well and we confidently expect that we will be on our way home in a few months. We didn't have turkey for Thanksgiving but we did have a fine dinner. Here is what we had: Roast beef with brown gravy, mashed potatoes, rutabagas, dried peach cobbler with sauce and coffee. I ate till I almost burst then went to my bunk and slept from 12:30 till 4:30. "In this camp there was not much noise about the celebration of the signing of the armistice. The most important thing that we notice is there is not such a rush of orders as there was before the signing of the armistice. "As for the candy, things have opened up so that we can buy candy for ourselves now. We can also buy cigars but they are not the grade but good old Decatur puts out. "I picked to death when I got that for there is nothing like receiving a package from home when you are so far away. "Love to all, "CHESTER T. COLEMAN, "Advance Ordinance Depot No. 1."

Premier W. M. Hughes of Australia says that he once said to a friend of his: "That's a swell umbrella you have got there. Did you come by it honestly?" "I haven't quite figured out. It started to rain the other day, and I stepped into a doorway to wait till it stopped. Then I saw a young fellow coming along with a nice large umbrella, and I thought if he was going as far as my house I would beg the shelter of his umbrella. So I stepped out and asked: 'Where are you going with that umbrella, young fellow?' and he dropped the umbrella and ran."

PRYZYNSKI IN THREE BIG DRIVES

John Pryczynski, 1029 East Main Street has just received the following letter from his son, John who is "somewhere in France." He was in the big drive at Verdun, in Lorraine and in St. Mihiel. He says that France is a very busy place. "Dear Folks: Well folks I suppose you heard about the war being over and have wondered where and what I have been doing. In this war, "The hardest fight we have been in was the Big Drive in Verdun. That was on the 25th of September and it sure was some battle. We were also in Alsace-Lorraine and in the St. Mihiel Drive. We have been kept pretty busy ever since we came here. I can not tell you all about it now, but will tell you about it later. "We have had no chance to see anyone or anything except smashed buildings. Many of them are old fashioned buildings with a big wall around them. Our whole company is in one of them so you see how large they are. Today is Sunday and we had inspection this morning and the afternoon off. I always like to go to the churches, but near us are two towns and the churches are smashed and everything has been stolen from the altar. "I hope this letter will find you all well and in good spirits. "With best wishes from your son "JOHN"

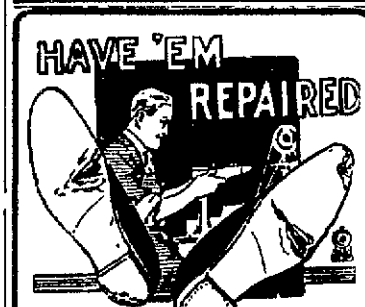

A soldier at the front got short of money, so he sent home the following letter: "Dear Mary: We lost a trench this morning, and we must replace it at any cost, so will you please send me five pounds at once." Said to say, he had a wily wife, who sent the following reply: "Dear Jim: Sorry I have not five pounds toward replacing the lost trench, but I enclose two candies to help you look for it."

BELGIAN SOLDIER WRITES DECATUR

Youth of Good Family Addresses "My Dear Miss."

A list of contributors to a fund for Belgium was sent with the fund to Belgium. In the reply acknowledging receipt of the fund was a request to Decatur for the name of some one who would write in English to a Belgian soldier. A Decatur young woman wrote the letter to the soldier and the reply received in English is as follows: November 28, 1918.

My Dear Miss:— Thank you so much for your nice letter which I received on Sunday morning. I thank also Mr. H— who has given you my letter to answer. How long your letter was in coming; it took 30 days before it reached me! When I caught sight of that little envelope I couldn't open it quick enough. We were just coming from the battlefield. I am glad, so glad, you will give me the opportunity to correspond with you. I have often wished to know who came from Brave United States of America. We Belgian, you know, can never thank America enough for her stand for honor, for her aid during the terrible days of the war. So please, let us write. You don't know me, the little Belgian soldier; but on the one point you may be assured, because you correspond with a youth of good and honest family. I am at the Red Cross, but always I was in the first line; always I was so near the Boches; always I was out there, in the trenches, with nothing to protect me from the wind and the rain. They were sad days, days which often made me think that there was no more joy or happiness in the world. And now, all the misery, all the terrible sights, all the suffering, all the clouds of war are passing away, and the stars of peace, of joy, are beginning to shine; the Sun of Freedom is rising over the land. So peace has come, and the children of Belgium are happy once more. I am glad peace came on St. Martin's Day in Belgium because here Saint's Day is a children's day, and were we not all just children this day, joyous, excited, happy, glad beyond our wildest dreams? Soon, very soon, we will be able to rejoin our parents. Oh, what rejoicings there will be in those reunions. There will not be time enough to say all they want to say to each other, talking away and talking away through the long hours of the night—talking of the sufferings and perils past—of the joy to

"For lo, the winter of sorrow is past, The rain is over and gone, The flowers appear on the earth, The time of the singing of birds is come, And the voice of the turtle is heard on the land." "The years of slavery are passed—"

The Kaiser boastfully said: "I have left the Belgians their eyes with which to weep."—Yea, they will weep, but not for sorrow, but for joy. A few days ago, King Albert came into his own again. He called together his Parliament, the same Parliament which heard those brave words of his during those days of August, 1914: "A country which defends its honor, will never perish, I have faith in our destiny." I was amongst those to enter Brussels with King Albert. I will never forget that wonderful day, the joyous crowds, singing, shouting, and dancing! It was one of those rare moments in ones life, when the spirit becomes uplifted and inspired, when the tongue becomes unloosed so that the very portals of Heaven itself are shaken with the sound thereof—when, as the Psalm would express it, "When the Gods laugh"—when as the Christian would express it, "When God sees that every thing is very good."

Now goodbye, my dear Miss, and do hope you will be able to understand all I have written. Do you understand French, because I write French very better? Hoping to have a nice long, extra long letter from you and very, very soon, too, I am Yours sincerely, COULIER.

Buying A Piano Is A Matter of Confidence

With most people. Isn't it? If you do not have perfect confidence in your dealer, you may pay much more for your piano than the instrument is worth. Isn't that correct? You have probably known Linn & Scruggs a good many years. You know that their great business has been built up by square dealing. You know that they are thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Why Not Buy Your Piano Now of a House That Is Willing to Risk Its Own Hard-Earned Reputation for Honor, Against That of the Merchandise Which It Sells You?

We shall be delighted to show and explain any of these beautiful instruments to you at your leisure. Come in this week if you can.

STILL FIGHTING; BUT NOT GERMANS

Fay Boggs Writes That Cooties Have Not Signed Armistice.

Fay Boggs of Latham, has received two letters from his brother, Fay Boggs, who is overseas. Now that the war is over he says he is still fighting, not Huns, but cooties.

On Oct. 25 he wrote:

"I wish you could see some of these battlefields around here. The towns are shot down to the ground, the trees look like you had chopped off all the limbs and left the trunk standing and the ground is just one big shell hole after another. It is going to be impossible to farm any of this ground and the towns will all have to be rebuilt. I have been in some of the most historical battlefields in France, and in the biggest drive of the year."

PEACE COMES.

The day after the armistice was signed he wrote:

"I guess I will soon be home now to help bale hay, for we have got Fritz to where he has said enough and quit fighting us. We were of the line when the armistice came. Our regiment was going over out of my division when they got the word to stop all combat. The majors sounded recall all along the lines and the Fritzies put up white flags. It was sure a relief to stop out and know that you didn't have to dodge any whis bangs. And when 11 o'clock came and it all stopped there were some happy boys."

"We are in a rest camp now, have been for two days. Haven't done a thing but clean up. The worst thing we have to contend with now is cooties and they are enough to fight."

NEWEST FORM OF A NEW ART

Photoplay Plots, Rich in Dramatic Appeal and Story Interest. President Wilson, before he sailed for France, penned the following: "The film has come to rank as a very high medium for the dissemination of public intelligence, and since it speaks a universal language, it lends itself importantly to the presentation of America's plans and purposes. "WOODROW WILSON."

Thus the great war in its supreme test crystallized the latest powers of the motion picture, which hitherto was accepted merely as a form of entertainment. President Wilson's tribute was in recognition of the wide-spread donation on the part of exhibitors and film manufacturers of all their resources in depicting how industrial plants were being adapted to making munitions of war and needed men and women helpers.

In many other ways the screen served the purposes of the Government. Contrary to popular belief, less footage was used on actual war scenes than on the dissemination of public intelligence and the presentation of America's plans. The owners of these vast manufacturing establishments, now that the sword is being beaten back to the ploughshare, are following the style set by the United States government, and employing the screen.

LIBERATED A FEW TOWNS

Bernard Taylor Went Across With Pershing June 26.

Mrs. Mary Taylor, 241 West Main street, received the following letter from her son, Bernard. Bernard Taylor enlisted in April, 1917, and sailed with Pershing on June 26, 1917. He was only sixteen years when he enlisted. He has been in all the battles that the American boys have taken part in. He was a Review carrier for some time.

"Dear Mother: Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and happy and hope you are the same, also to let you know that I have not forgotten you although I have neglected to write. We have been so busy that none of us have had a chance. We have been making drive after drive and now I think we have claimed our big objective—Victory, or at least that is the way it looks now."

"Did you receive the Christmas card for that box that I sent you. If you did not I guess you will soon."

"Well I think that we will be back in the United States by the Fourth of July, or any way I hope so."

"I sure have some interesting things to tell you of the things that I have seen and done since I arrived in France, also of a few of my travels around this country."

"We are going through some places now that I would sure like to tell you about, but I can't 'till later on."

"We have liberated a few towns and you ought to see the people as we come into them. They have all kinds of decorations on their houses. The people are sure glad to see us. Tell all the folks that I will write them as soon as I get time."

"I remain your only boy."

AUTOMOBILES

DO NOT EXPECT REDUCTIONS

Automobile Dealers Say
Prices Have Been Fixed.

Automobile dealers are getting announcements from manufacturers to the effect that present prices will undoubtedly be maintained for the rest of the season. Some changes in prices were announced some weeks ago by a few dealers, but now it is said that others are not expected, and that the rest of the makers are expected to maintain prices.

TO END OF 1919.

An interview with A. H. Drysdale, local Buick distributor, makes certain that the purchaser of a Buick car between now and the end of the 1919 season is not running any chance that the price will be subject to further change during that period. "I have just received a letter from the home office," said Mr. Drysdale, "containing the revised price schedule effective Jan. 1, 1919, covering various Buick models during the remainder of the season. Four models have been reduced in price and other two remain untouched."

"There has been considerable speculation as to what the Buick Motor company was going to do about the prices of their cars, as the close of the war left things in such an uncertain condition regarding the price and quantities of raw material available that a good many people felt it would be impossible for the really big manufacturers to find their bearings for some time to come."

PROMPT ACTION.

"This prompt action on the part of the company shows that they have been able to clear the situation up sooner than anybody expected, and for one, am delighted with the announcement so early in the season. Their war orders which have been demanding the major part of their energies have been completed and the announcement of the present prices is evidence that the Buick Motor company now has a measure of the situation and sufficient material in sight that will permit laying out a definite building schedule which again proves the buyer of a Buick automobile is at all times protected against unwarranted price changes."

ORDERS. "Orders for Buick cars are piling up on us very fast and I feel reasonably sure that we shall be able to take care of the greater part of them within a reasonable time. We shall continue to follow our old policy of filling orders, and will make every effort to see that no favoritism is shown our waiting list, which plan has worked out so admirably in the past. "Buick enthusiasts appreciate the importance of this announcement, because all uncertainty has now been removed, both as to the possibility of getting Buick cars this year, and the possibility of the prices being raised or lowered."

INTEREST IN CHICAGO SHOW

Decatur Dealers Plan to Go There Jan. 28.

Decatur automobile men are taking considerable interest in the show which the dealers and agents in Chicago will put on at the Coliseum in that city beginning Jan. 28.

Because of the fact that the manufacturers are not in position to put on a show so soon after the sudden ending of the war the exhibit is being put on by the dealers of Chicago and it is now said that it will be quite as large and as complete as in other years.

One feature of the show will be that the first five days will be given over to the exhibit of passenger cars and the last five days to the showing of trucks.

The increasing importance of trucks of various kinds in the motor trade is indicated by this change in the attitude of the dealers in giving the commercial car an equal prominence accorded to the pleasure vehicle.

A number of the Decatur dealers will attend the show.

NATIONAL SYSTEM OF HIGHWAYS

Sentiment Grows for Big Wide Reaching Plan.

W. O. Rutherford, vice president of the B. F. Goodwin Rubber Co., said at the National Highway convention at Chicago:

"National sentiment in favor of an adequate highway system was never more graphically brought to light than at the Chicago gathering. With perfect accord the convention resolved that the following main points should be embodied in a bill to be put before the present short term of congress for passage."

1. That a Federal Highway Commission be appointed to plan, maintain and construct a national system of highways.

2. That the mileage of highways to be taken over in any given state should not amount to over 4 per cent of the total mileage of the roads of that state.

3. That a thorough survey and analysis of the transportation requirements of the nation and its highway traffic should be compiled.

4. That an appropriation should be made by the federal government of $100,000,000 per year for carrying on this work.

5. That the Federal Highway Commission shall take over the work of the Highway Transport Committee and the Office of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture.

"This work will furnish an inestimable national asset in the transportation of around 25,000,000 tons of grain, butter, eggs, stock and prepared food from farming communities and industrial centers to the seaports. Furthermore this legislation will create a highway foundation for the future which will help broaden our vision in the development of national resources."

"Our conception has been small, our interstate highway transportation has been cramped and handicapped by boundary lines. The stumbling block planted itself on the state line, where one state with different plans, appropriations and specifications halted their highway work, perhaps the neighboring state was poor, or its policy was to improve the country lines on a bigger scale than the big interstate laterals and meridians. The vital road was incomplete. It contained bad stretches rendering it inefficient."

"Under the Federal Highway Commission groups of states will better understand each other's problems and government direction will furnish a stimulus that will be reflected and felt on down the line to the county and township road commissions."

ATTACKED BY THREE U-BOATS

Everett Penhalegon writes of Trip.

Sergeant Everett Penhalegon, in letters written to his wife and also to his parents, just received here, says that while the censorship was in force he held it mind that he was a military service and under orders and that they were expected to confine their letters to mere statements in regard to their health, the weather and their kindly reception by the French people, but now that the censorship has been practically removed he feels at liberty to write more fully. Their trip over, he says, is now almost ancient history, but a few of his experiences were very interesting and some exciting and at the risk of repeating what others may have written he ventures to speak of some of them.

ATTACKED BY SUBS.

They crossed in an English ship, the Fort Melbourn had comfortable quarters, and were well fed. From Halifax, where they spent two days they had twenty-two ships in their convoy and were in squad formation all the way across.

On July 1, they were attacked by three submarines. "Our destroyers," he says, "which met us the day before, sunk two of them and the other got away. The fight which lasted about half an hour was sure exciting."

They landed at Liverpool, went to Southampton by train, and then crossed the English channel in the "Vapor" and first touched French soil at Cherbourg. He is now at Nevers, in almost the geographical center of France.

In speaking of the celebration which followed the signing of the armistice he said: "The adjectives in the English language are not strong enough to describe the outbursts of joy. The very wildest scenes following a game of football, which had been won by the home team, are too tame to compare with it!"

WOUNDED HORRIBLY OUT.

He said that the celebrating even at the base hospital had to be seen to be understood. "The wounded men came hobbling out on crutches and canes and almost danced for joy. I made a special trip into the ward occupied by the German prisoners, and they even had smiles of satisfaction on their faces."

"That night I went into a small town near here, St. Parise, and you would have thought all the American army was in that little village. There were parades after parades, first the French people would go marching down the street singing the Marseillaise, then America. Then the quaint looking old French women would come running up in their wooden shoes, pat us on the backs and cry, 'long live America and the American soldiers.' The town was almost hidden with Japanese lanterns and the flags of the Allies. Sometimes a man would get up and try to make a speech in the square but the crowd was too excited to stay in one place or be quiet enough to listen to him."

RECORD PRICE PAID FOR COW

C. A. Wilson Sells Animal For $575.

A record price for a cow was established Saturday when C. A. Wilson, 876 North Edward street, sold to Bruno Riedel, 1740 East John avenue, a pure bred registered Holstein for $575.

This cow, Diel Dekol Pontiac, was bought last August by Mr. Wilson at the state fair in Springfield. In the competition there she took second prize for three year old heifers in the show ring, and in the butter contest she brought first of all the Holsteins, and second of all the breeds.

Mr. Riedel has another pure bred registered cow, as well as other cows. He sells milk.

A GREATEST WORK.
It is just possible that President Wilson will accomplish a work in Europe that will more than justify his visit to that part of the world. The biggest thing that can come out of this war is a league of nations that will work. This would be about the biggest thing so far in the political affairs of the world. And it will take something about as big as a real and workable league of nations to repay the civilized part of the world for the war it has been through. If we can't get such a league it is hard to see what will be left to justify all the struggle that had to be endured. It appears from messages by cable that President Wilson is the most potent of the forces working to form a league of nations. The people as well as the statesmen of Europe have come to recognize him as the leading representative of this idea. The president meets with leading officials in England, and all their talk is about a league of nations. They discuss the matter and all begin to have a feeling the big thing can be accomplished. From every side come reports that good headway is being made. It was much the same way when the president was in France. The people as well as the statesmen of that country looked to him to make the league of nations a real and practical thing. By common consent all the nations are dropping in behind the leadership of President Wilson in this matter. It is too early to say that the president will succeed in this great work, but at least it can be said that he seems to be making good headway. If he succeeds in putting the thing through he will have justified himself and compensated the world for its sacrifices in the great war. If President Wilson can do better with this work in Europe than he could in America it will be agreed that Europe is the place for him to be at this time. Of course a real league of nations would be much the biggest thing to come out of the war; the man who can lead and put this through will not be called on by anybody in the future to make excuses for the part he has taken.

HOW LONG CAN THEY DO IT?
A man comes out of the Ukraine country and tells us something about the high cost of poor living in that corner of the world. His story is sent forward by the Associated Press. It is mentioned that a pound of butter sells at 120 rubles, which is about $60. In the same open market a pair of trousers are quoted at $500. Frequently food is not obtainable at any price. And yet a good many people are managing to live through that kind of thing, several millions in fact. How do they make ends meet? We can't imagine that many people in any community have $60 to hand over for a pound of butter. They might manage to live without butter, but how about other things? They must eat something, and prices of all foods are very high, on a par with the quoted price for butter. A man might start the day with a thousand dollars in that Ukraine country and spend all of it in getting himself three meals; then he would have nothing left for the next day. But he must live the second day, and also the third. To live he must eat, and it is out of the question for him to buy food. It must be that they manage somehow to get food without buying it. When prices get so high that no one has the wherewithal some other system of exchange must be devised. Perhaps everybody skrimishes, goes hungry some days and grabs off a few bites on others. And this keeps him so busy that he hasn't any time to devote to making an honest living. You would say it is an impossible system. So it is, but nevertheless a few millions of them make it work in some fashion. It is poor living, about the poorest one can imagine, but those Ukraine people think it is better than dying. We wonder how long they can keep it up.

BELGIANS WILL GET ALONG.
We are interested in an observation that Mr. Hoover makes about the people of Belgium in their efforts to get themselves started again as a going concern. He says the Belgian government is rapidly taking hold, that manufacturers of the country "are engaged everywhere in the rehabilitation of their works." Then he concludes with this: "The spirit of Belgium was never better than today. The Belgians are resolved to find a solution of their manifold difficulties with as little assistance as possible from the outside." That is the way to get at it. They are going ahead with the work as best they can, and they are determined not to let an outsider do for them anything they can do for themselves. They realize they will have to stand on their own merits and efforts, so they take up the task and go at it in earnest. You can be pretty sure that people moved by that spirit will get along. The going may be slow for a time, but they will always move a little part of the way, and they will keep it up. They will have serious obstacles during the first year, but the second year will be somewhat better. You see they are depending on their own efforts, are helping themselves, are going about it in same fashion. They are not thinking about Bolshevism, for they haven't any use for lost motion; they are intelligent enough to try to make every lick count for something. They will get on, for they are in a world where God and man help those who help themselves.

NOT HINDENBURG.
They are telling us that Hindenburg and the Kaiser built themselves dugouts back of the fighting front a day's automobile drive. Spectators who look at these holes in the ground are inclined to think they show both Hindenburg and the Kaiser to have been cowards. We can believe it of the Kaiser, for from the start he has been mostly a fakir. Perhaps there never was much to him, that is anything of quality that was in himself. He had a showy job and he did his part by trying to be a showman, of course where always paying the bill. But it is different with Hindenburg. In a way he had to hew out his own fortune, had need of some real quality in himself. He had to do something to get along in the world, had to be something more than a fakir. Yes, Hindenburg may have had a dugout a day's drive back of the firing line. They say he did, for the thing is there to speak for itself. But we must feel that he had it in order to entertain the Kaiser when he called. It is hardly fair to hold one to strict accountability for what he does when he has William Hohenzollern around and can't get rid of him. We think Hindenburg would have got along without the bomb-proof cellar if somebody had been kind enough to call the Kaiser to another part of the country.

THEY GOT THE EATS.
Orders were issued to the American soldier boys about Coblenz not to buy meats from the Germans. These were orders in restraint of trade and of course they didn't work smoothly. The Germans had chickens, ducks, geese and other fowl that looked good to the American boys who had been partly raised on that quality of fodder. The Americans found a way to get the birds. And while they were at this they tried to live up to orders, for they are good army men. They may have decided as a starter that fowl is not meat; that would help some. The next step was to decide that barter is not sale. They would trade for the chickens and ducks, pass no money, and thus keep inside the dead line of the orders. At any rate the resourceful Americans got what they wanted. They had more soap on hand than they could use, also they had extra rations of chewing gum. They traded these for chickens, ducks and geese and thus laid the right kind of a foundation for the Christmas feast. There is always this to be said for an army of American boys, perhaps for many other armies; if there is something around in the eating line that they fancy they will manage somehow to possess it. It is told that all good fighting men have this feeding characteristic.

The French estimate their property loss at $13,000,000,000, which is not far from the "full fair value" of all property in the state of Illinois. It will be a long time before the Huns finish paying the bill. And remember that we shall manage somehow to get along better with a wheat crop that is more than enough than we could with one that is less than enough. Twelve thousand sailors landed in New York City and about the first question they asked was, "Where do we eat?" Those fellows came home in good physical condition. They have raised the price of a cucumber to 35 cents, and really a fellow would hate to hand over that much stage money for one. Our weather man has been trying to do something to cause the shoe dealers to smile. Buy those war stamps for which you subscribed and then all will be well. Corn seems to be making a serious effort to flirt around the $1.50 mark. The late czar may not be dead, but he will never hear about it.

IN FRONT LINE WHEN END CAME
William DuMont Got Wish—To Go Over the Top.
Mrs. Luella DuMont of 2207 Haldale Ave., Los Angeles, Cal., just received two letters from her son William, of Co. A, 124th M. G. Bn., dated Nov. 8 and 14, the first received in three months. "Nov. 8. 'We are still moving around over this country and it has been raining for the past week. I think the sun has gotten lost some where for I have not seen it for some time. 'How do you like your new home by now? It looks as though I may get to see it before many more months. The last letter I wrote you I was in the hospital and the company was going back but this time I got back to the company. I did not go with them and I guess I will not have a chance now. 'Wilbur Duncan left today for an officers' training school. We have been putting up a telephone all day so I am rather tired and my candle is burning low so I can't write much more. 'We are having our seven day leaves now. I don't know when I will get mine—fourteen of them are away now, that is all that can leave at a time. I am sending you a Christmas coupon, but I expect it is too late now. I had no writing material till I received your letter. We have been in the lines so long that every one is just about out of stationery. We are in reserve now and everything is quiet except a shell now and then. Elmer Oliver and the two Trimby brothers are still with us. Ben is on his furlough now.' "Nov. 14. 'Dear Mom: Just received your letter dated Oct. 12. Well, Mom, another one of my wishes have come true. We went over the top. Say it is great game if you don't care what part you play. We were in the front lines when the firing ceased. Well I am still alive and happy, of course, we all are that way now. Well I may not get home in time for that turkey Christmas, but we can have one when I do get there. 'I have no sweater just now, but I think we will get one soon. If you still have the one I sent home, I sure can use it now. It is not winter yet, but getting very cold. 'I will close now. 'Your son, 'BILL.'"

TAKE INVOICE OF YOURSELF
Thrift Suggestion of the Government.
Take an invoice of yourself on Jan. 1, 1919, says Uncle Sam. Figure up what you are worth. Find out what you are worth. Find out what you have and how much you owe and make plans for twelve months of savings to get ahead in 1919. FORMS PREPARED. This is part of the campaign of thrift which the savings department of the United States treasury is putting on in this country. It is suggested that every man, woman and child take this inventory and the treasury has devised a blank form, one to be filled out by adults and the other which is called the "Patriotic Estimate Blank," which can be filled out by both adults and children. This patriotic inventory shows the amount of war savings stamps and Liberty bonds bought during the year. The other is simply a form for an adult to use showing all property, personal and real, owned and all debts owed by the maker of the inventory. The idea of the treasury officials is of course, to stimulate saving and thrift in the nation. INVENTORY. The forms of "stock taking" recommended by the government savings division, follow: War Winning Savings in 1918—War savings stamps bought..... Liberty Bond payments made..... Total War savings in 1918 $..... Plans for War Clean up service, 1919—Will buy savings stamps..... Will buy Liberty bonds..... Total savings service for 1919..... ITALY'S ADRIATIC COAST CLAIMS SEEN AS CHALLENGE TO WILSON

WHERE INTERESTS CLASH

Dalmatia has 5,000 square miles and a population of more than 50,000. Trieste is a city of 225,000, once largely Italian, now mostly Slav because of long Austrian domination. It is the chief port of Kustenland, which, with the Trentino, forms Italia Irredenta. Albania has an area of 11,000 square miles, and a population of under a million. Its chief port, Avlona, controls the entrance to the Adriatic and its possessor will dominate the Balkan states. Paris, France.—Paris begins to ask if President Wilson on his visit to Italy will be able to so present the principles for which he stands as to check the growing desire of Italy for territorial gains. "No annexations" and "self determination" go by the board in Italy's new demands. The return of Italia Irredenta and the making of Trieste, on the eastern shore of the Adriatic an Italian port have been anticipated in discussions of the settlement with Italy. But revelation of a secret agreement among the European allies in 1916 that Italy should have the greater part of the Dalmatian coast brought vigorous protest from Jugoslavians. Now claim to all of the east coast of the Adriatic and to control over Albania as well promises to raise one of the major problems of the peace congress. Italian representatives have said that they would concede to Jugoslavians ports on the Adriatic coast. Control of Albania would make Italy supreme in the Adriatic and offer a base for the future domination of the Balkans, both politically and economically. OCCUPIES LARGE ALBANIA AREA. Italy has occupied 400,000 square miles of Albania, including the port of Avlona, which, as an Italian naval base, would make her master of the Adriatic.

Ten Years Ago Today In Decatur
DECEMBER 29, 1908.
Chief W. W. Mason ordered restaurants to stop throwing dishwater into the gutters. Three horses fell down on the North Main street asphalt in five minutes. Over an inch of rain fell. John Chodat was getting fresh lettuce from his garden every morning. TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY. Dr. W. L. Roy Dunn had returned from Europe and was visiting his parents here. Charles Schubach shot and killed himself. Julia Marlow played to a big house at Powers theater. Corydon C. Nicholson and Misses Marie and Jeannette Powers attended a dance in Springfield.

HOG KILLING IS IN FULL SWING
First Seasonable Weather for It.
There are better days at hand in the matter of h. c. i. for such of us as have country cousins. Butchering has commenced. Hog killing is several weeks late this year on account of the weather. The farmer is obliged to wait on the weather man for his refrigeration and this year there has not been any weather suitable for hog killing until now. The butchering which is usually done in November or December has been postponed this year until after Christmas and is just now in full swing. At about nine out of ten farm houses they are killing hogs, have just killed or are getting ready to kill. Butchering is one in the country on the co-operative plan and the neighbors are invited in to help therefore every body can't kill hogs on the same day but they can all kill hogs the same week. HELPS RELATIVES At the present price of hogs farmers are not killing any more than are absolutely necessary but at that there is the question of disposing of some of the parts. Offerings are therefore being made to city relatives of spare ribs, back bones, jowls and other portions of the hog that must be disposed of while they are fresh. Now and then if we are particularly esteemed by country relatives they are brought a ball of country sausage, head cheese and other pork products that are worth their weight in gold. Of course farmers are not bestowing these finished products upon esteemed relatives to an extent that could be regarded as wasteful but they are giving enough to remind their city relatives of what real food is like. And no city man who has been accustomed to trade a liberty bond for a pork roast would trust that his donations be made into sausage or head cheese before they are brought to him. He is glad to accept them in the form of spare ribs, back bones, pigs feet or the unadorned heads of the porkers. For the first time this year rabbits are appearing on the market. Rabbits and snow go together or rather come together. Since the first snow of the season is here the rabbits are beginning to arrive. Owing to the high cost of labor and ammunition the price of rabbits is about double that of last year but that is of course to be expected.

—A TIP FOR 1919—
FINANCIAL SUCCESS is a certain outgrowth of Successful Saving. If the Test of Time has proven anything it has proven the truth of Ben Franklin's saying: "A penny saved is a penny earned." No limit has yet been discovered for the advancement of the man or woman able to look facts squarely in the face—the man or woman with the foresight and moral stamina to SAVE TODAY against the OPPORTUNITY OF TOMORROW. No plan of systematic saving yet devised has proven so satisfactory as our CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUB. A small amount deposited each week is saved and returned to you, with accumulated interest, at the season when the demands on your purse are greatest. JOIN OUR 1919 CLUB TOMORROW!

Hughes, Australian premier; Massey, New Zealand, and Botha, South Africa, all of whom will oppose at peace meet return of any of Germany's colonies. Below, in black and under-scored, the African and Pacific possessions of Germany before the war.

Paris, France. — Three strong voices in the peace congress will oppose return of Germany's former colonies to Germany.

They are the voices of William M. Hughes, premier of Australia, William Massey, premier of New Zealand and General Louis Botha, premier of South Africa—heads of self-governing British nations.

Hughes when he reached England, declared he cared not who ruled the Pacific islands, so long as Germany was kept out. Now he asks control by Australia because of her war sacrifices and for the national safety of the island continent.

Massey and Botha are less outspoken, but as strongly against Germany.

One plan proposed is rule by international commission.

Such a government may even apply to colonial possessions of other nations held for exploitation. This would lessen danger of international complications. Another plan is for local centers of international control.

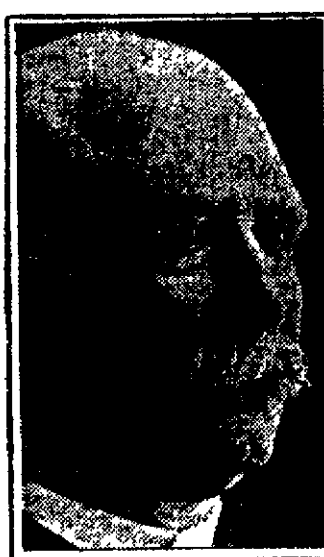

REAL COLONIZATION NOT GERMAN PROGRAM.

Most of the African territory dominated by European powers is unfit for habitation of white men and is desired not for real colonization, but for its natural products or for military and naval bases.

German southwest Africa is a more desirable region. But though it has a climate suitable for white people, its rainfall is so scanty as to make its soil infertile and it lacks harbors. Stock raising is the nearest to agricultural development here. Copper, diamonds, gold, asbestos and graphite are among its natural products. It is in this region that the most brutal treatment of native populations by Germans is recorded, treatment which goes far to determine the victors over Germany that she shall not rule people of other races. Her efforts to exterminate Bushmen and Hottentots have been set forth at length in sworn testimony collected by the British high commission.

As to the German colonies in the Pacific, their real value is as naval bases, and Australia and New Zealand have no desire to see German naval bases in nearby waters.

Of the money loaned $5,000 was at 4 1/2 per cent, $11,900 at 5 per cent, and $1,500 at 7 per cent. $12,400 was loaned on city property and $5,000 on farm property.

An advance in the selling prices of houses and lots, not of vacant lots, but improved residence property, is indicated by the dealers. In fact some of them have found that the advance has already come as owners are refusing to sell at prices made some time ago.

This advance is coming, say the dealers, because of the high replacement cost and the seeming possibility that building costs will not be lower for some time.

One dealer who had a fairly good property listed with him at $4,000 some two or three months ago tried to sell it the last week for that price when the owner told him that the figure made some time ago no longer stood. The price was now $4,500, and he stood to his new price.

BUY FOR HOMES.
Deals last week were altogether in city property and practically all that changed hands went to people who expect to live in the houses they bought. The date for giving possession is being closely considered just now and the sales are made subject to the tenant of the property getting a chance at a place into which he can move his family.

One deal for a $6,000 house was the fact that the man who was selling was not sure that he could find a suitable home.

an agent last week put off the granting of possession until next May.

CLINTON MAN BUYS.

One of the largest deals of the week was the sale of the comparatively new eight room modern house at 253 East Stuart avenue by J. S. Campbell of Tuscola, to William G. Phares of Clinton for $5,000.

This place is very desirably located just off Water street and in a comparatively new group of houses. Mr. Phares expects soon to move to Decatur to make his home in this property. The deal was made by B. F. Darden & Son.

ROBERT WALTER SELLS.

Another good piece of property which changed hands the past week was that of Robert Walter, 1065 West Wood street, to Frank Burnett. This house is a large eight room modern home located on a lot 50 by 150 feet and while no consideration is given in the deed it is understood that the property sold for about $5,000. Mr. Burnett will make his home there. Mr. Walter also owns the property next door to the one he sold. James C. Lyon made the deal.

Charles L. Hall bought the eight room partly modern house at 811 North College street from James M. Willard for $2,000. The lot is full size and the Hall bought the place for a home. They already live there.

BUYS IN DENNIS AVE.

Ada Probst sold the property she owned at 124 North Dennis avenue to E. F. Drobisch last week, the latter buying the place for an investment. It is a five room bungalow, strictly modern and is in an excellent location. The deal was made by B. F. Cloud.

Rice & Stringer sold for W. G. Altenbach, the strictly modern six room house at 1811 East Eldorado street, to Earl and Bertha Holmes for $2,000. The purchasers bought the place for a home and will soon move into it.

MANY SALES.

Edward F. Drobisch sold the modern seven room house which he owned at 810 West Packard street, to J. W. Edwards for $3,000. This lot is 220 feet deep and a good barn goes with the property.

Joseph Schoenle sold the partly modern six room house at 1725 North Warren street to M. Gehring for $2,400.

Joseph Schoenle last week bought of the Ritchie estate the five room house and large lot at 1720 East Johns avenue and immediately sold it to James Legnsfeld for $1,200.

J. L. Burtisch sold to Thomas J. Rice of Springfield the five room strictly modern house at the corner of North Third and East North streets for $2,000. This is a desirable location, on one paved street.

Martha Burtisch bought of John W. Urs of Peoria the five room partly modern house at 1115 West Green street, for an even $1,000.

WILL MOVE HERE.

Through W. M. Lewis, Joseph Schwartz sold to Orville Shumate the five room, modern cottage, at 1116 East Prairie street for $3,400. This is in an excellent location on a paved street, and is a most desirable piece of property.

Mr. Shumate who has been farming near Decatur will move into the property he has purchased.

220 ACRES AT $200.

The price of Macon county land has now reached such a high level that the sale of 220 acres of land lying between Oreauna and Green's Switch by Peter Magnuson, living near Argenta, to John Oldweller and John Dilling of Oreauna, for $200 and acre, caused not the least ripple of excitement in the real estate market.

Mr. Oldweller was the man who last week sold a quarter section in that neighborhood for $340.

DEMAND FOR FARM LAND.

A Decatur business man who has been advertising farm land for sale said: "I read your editorial comment upon a land sale that had been recently made in this vicinity. I want to corroborate what you said, in fact half has not been told. You remember I had you to put in a little ad offering for sale a small farm near Mattoon. Of course every one knows that land down there has not been tiled and limed like the land here in the "Blue Ribbon Belt"—but I have been swamped with applications from parties who wanted to purchase. There are at least a half dozen different people to whom I could sell it to, being a non-resident and not realizing the "Land Hunger" for corn belt farms. I priced it from $15 to $25 per acre less than I could have sold it for."

OWNER OF 200 ACRES

Mrs. Bessie Hardin Victim of Pneumonia.

Mrs. Sarah R. Swartz, aged seventy-seven years, died at o'clock Saturday afternoon in the house in which she was born, northeast of Decatur near what is known as the Swartz crossing. Her death was due to the infirmities of age.

Mrs. Swartz was a daughter of the late Fielding and Jane Scott House, who, in 1855, settled on the farm where Mrs. Swartz was born and where her entire life was spent. She was of sturdy pioneer stock, her ancestors coming from Holland to America in the seventeenth century. They settled in Maryland and fought in the French and Indian war and in the Revolutionary war. The next generation emigrated to Kentucky during the days of Daniel Boone, and thence to Illinois. Before her marriage Mrs. Swartz taught school in Macon and Platt counties. She was a woman of exceptional mental qualifications.

MARRIED IN 1873.

She and John Swartz were married in Jan. 1873. Mr. Swartz died Dec. 30, 1917.

Mrs. Swartz was the owner of 200 acres of land located at Swartz crossing. This land is estimated as being worth close to $500 an acre. She is survived by two sisters and a brother, Union street; Mrs. Lydia Ridding of Buford, O., and W. T. House of New man, Ill. She also leaves the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Harry Fisk, Jr., Mrs. Mary J. Hell, who were with her at the time of her death, and O. W. Kincaid and D. O. Kincaid. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the residence. The services will be conducted by Rev. A. P. Cobb. The interment will be in the Swartz cemetery, which is located on her farm, and where her husband and her parents are buried.

MRS. BESSIE HARDIN DIES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Bessie Hardin, wife of Lee Hardin, 441 South Water street, died at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Red Cross hospital, where she was taken for treatment at 1:30 o'clock. Her death was caused by pneumonia just an hour after she reached the hospital. She was taken ill with influenza last Monday. Pneumonia developed and her condition became serious at 12 o'clock Friday night.

Mrs. Hardin was born near Decatur Dec. 2, 1833. She and Lee Hardin were married in 1910. Her maiden name was Bessie Hardin, but she and her husband were not related before marriage. Her mother's maiden name was also Hardin, more were she and her husband related, before marriage.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Hardin is survived by two children, Herschel Hardin, aged seven and Kenneth Hardin, aged three years. She also leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hardin, and one sister, Miss Bessie Hardin, of Decatur. She was a member of the Christian church at Clinton.

STILL SHORT ON RED CROSS LIST

T. W. Boruff Extends Time Till Tuesday.

After extending the time for the final reports on the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call until last night T. W. Boruff was unable to get in all of the reports from the different townships in full and he has extended the time again until next Tuesday when he says all reports must be in and the roll call closed.

The total of paid up members reported and actually in the hands of the executive committee is now 8,650 in the city and 4,641 in the county, a total of 13,291.

LIST OF TOWNSHIPS.

Several townships are not yet in and there are known to be some reports yet out in the city. The townships which have reported are as follows:
Austin, 612; Blue Mound, 208; Friends Creek, 626; Harrisonown, 130; Hickory Point, 163; Macon, —; Mt. Zion, 612; Oakley, 299; South Macon, —; Whittemor, 203; Illinois, 418; Millam, 123; Nantico, —; Pleasant View, 496; S. Wheatland, 131; Long Creek, 324.

BETHANY BANK CASE TO COURTS

Creditors Meet but Fail in Settlement.

Bethany, Dec. 28.—Settlement of the affairs of the defunct Bethany State bank will probably have to be effected in the courts. Creditors of the bank and directors of the institution held a meeting here Saturday evening in an effort to reach an agreement on the terms of settlement but they failed to do so.

The bank directors offered to settle with the depositors and other creditors at a rate of approximately 80 cents on the dollar. Mrs. Noble, mother of R. W. Noble, president of the bank, who is now in the Mountrie county jail following the confession he made some time ago of misusing the funds, had offered a farm, valued at $50,000 to help cover the shortage.

MAY BE WITHDRAWN.

Mrs. Noble's offer was made however subject to certain restrictions, and it is understood that it may be withdrawn if the creditors fail to reach the kind of an agreement that she specifies. The creditors are obdurate, however, and the settlement will likely be handled by the courts. Whether there will be much left after the attorney's fees are paid cannot be said.

The canteen workers have made the room very pleasant and home like. The furniture includes a large reading table, a well filled book case, a desk, a large lounge and several easy chairs. Soldiers that come there are invited to make themselves at home and many of them do so. In addition to this large general room shown in the picture there are the kitchen, a bed room equipped with a hospital bed, and a small store room.

EDDIE MORRIS MAY RETURN TO U. S.
Decatur Actor Still on Stage in England.
WRITES NEW SONG
Which Makes Quite A Hit in London.

Eddie Morris, son of E. J. Morris of Decatur, is still starring in England in a big musical play called the Lilac Domino. It was thought for a time that a second company would be organized in England and that the first company would then come to this country to put the production on in the larger cities here. If this is done the former Decatur boy who was very well known here, in Decatur will return to his native land. If the country is no longer he will stay in England and will try to have his wife and baby boy join him there.

EDDIE MORRIS

WANTS PERMISSION
Mr. Morris has been unable, up to this time, to get permission from the government for his family to join him in England but he hopes now that she can soon get passports to sail.
He had made a contract for two years in England and he was compelled to sail when his boy was just four days old and during all of the two years he has not had a chance to see either his wife or his baby son as the government would not grant her the right to sail during war time.
WRITES NEW SONG
Recently Mr. Morris wrote a song "How He Will Smile When He Comes Home" for which the leader of the orchestra of the company wrote the music and which made quite a hit in London where he first sang it after the signing of the armistice.

INTERESTING AND VARIED TRIP

L. L. Brosam Tells of Travels in France.

J. A. Brosam, 1769 East Eldorado street, has received the following letter from his son, L. L. Brosam, who is at LaVal Bonne:
"Dear Dad—I didn't get to write you a letter yesterday so will write it today.
We came over on the great steamer Mt. Vernon, which used to be the Crown Princess Cecilia and believe me she sure was some boat. We zigzagged all the way across the ocean to keep away from the subs and we sure missed them all. I was on lookout duty all the way across and my hours were from 8 to 12 o'clock in the morning and the same time at night. I got sick about four days out and was sick for a day or two and then went back on duty again. The jockies kept every thing clean and nice and every morning the decks were scrubbed. We had movies on board ship and church as on land. In fact everything was about the same except the abandon ship drill every evening.
We were on the ship in all about eight days and then we landed at Brest and went to the camp about two miles out of the city. We stayed there about four days, from there we went to Clemont.
IN NAPOLEON'S CAMP.
Our camp in Brest was an old camp used by Napoleon in his campaign as a drill camp for his troops. From Clemont we went to a small village that I can't spell. We were there for quite a while.
I went to a machine gun school. While I was there the company moved to Grondcourt where we stayed in the stable of a big French count. They sure treated us fine.
We marched from Grondcourt to Pont Remy, a machine gun range, and the company was there when I left to go to the machine gun school at Langres. From there I joined my company at Molines Au Boi woods. We went to the trenches, from there, near Albert on the British sector. We went back to the woods from there and the next time we went in we went to the other side of Corbie, near Villers Butonneaux and stayed there quite a while.
We went from there to a small village and turned in all British equipment that we then had in our possession.
TOOK A PRISONER.
I left there the next day for Dieppe on the coast for a prisoner. Was there a day and came back to Paris, and from there went to la Sur Tille, a regulating station.
I arrived at the camp in the Amer-

New Year's Day—Frank McIntyre in
"TOO FAT TO FIGHT"

Now Let Us Rejoice
FOR VICTORY, PEACE AND THE PEACE OF MIND BY VIRTUE OF WHICH WE HAVE BEEN ABLE TO ENJOY A Merry Christmas!

For the VICTORY won, credit is due to our brave soldiers and sailors, who gladly risked their lives; to their wives, daughters and sweethearts, who so bravely "backed them up;" and to the industrial army which kept them supplied with food, clothing and munitions.

For the establishment of PEACE, just and lasting, America entered the war and fought it to a successful conclusion. To make sure that this fruit of Victory will not be lost, America is now seeking to effect that "League of Nations" which alone can guarantee permanent PEACE.

PEACE OF MIND, so essential to care-free enjoyment of Christmas, can never exist without Financial Independence. The provident Saver enjoys a mental Peace which the Spendthrift can never know.

In extending to you the Greetings of the Season the officers and directors of this bank are made happy because of the privilege which has been ours of assisting so many Decatur people to attain the Financial Independence on which their enjoyment of Christmas so largely depends.

We wish to express our appreciation of your past generous patronage. For the business you have entrusted to us we are grateful.

But above all else, we are glad today for the opportunities the future will offer us to be of ever-increasing service to our patrons. Every facility of this bank is yours "on demand." You can "check" on our services at any time. It will be a pleasure to us to have you do so.

A family party of two thousand people seems a large party. And it was a large party. It was a pleasant party. It was a night, "folksy" party. Just the big Mueller family and they had one big time. It was the Mueller Christmas party held Saturday afternoon and night. In the afternoon the children had their time, 600 of them, with their mothers and attendants, and at night a crowd estimated at nearly 1,500 sat on the benches and stood about the sides of the big new reclamation building with its snowy white walls and smooth concrete floor while the "Mueller Premier Minstrels" put on stunts, sang solos and choruses and cracked jokes for an hour and a half in the evening.

PARTY IN EVENING.
The evening party for the grown ups was easily the feature of the day when the concert by the Mueller band was followed by the minstrel show on the stage erected in the east end of the immense new building.

The stage was a real stage, fitted with wings and drops borrowed from the Lincoln Square theater and with real footlights installed by the employees of the firm. Nothing was left undone to make the show the real thing and every actor in it, every member of the band, every entertainer, was an employee of the company and known to the hundreds of laughing, cheering spectators.

ADOLPH MUELLER SINGS.
It was not a show given by the employees or by the firm. It was given by the big Mueller family and the president of the company was vociferously applauded as in full black face outfit as end man he sang "Old Black Joe" and the roof fairly lifted when a "frame up" on Eddie Kinck was cleverly pulled off at that time. Some one had gaily suggested to Mr. Kinck that he would be putting one over on the head of the firm if he would present him with a cabbage as a bouquet after singing "Old Black Joe."

"Eddie" had a really fine head of cabbage ready and hastened to present it to Mr. Mueller after his song and the president of the firm graciously accepted it with the remark made very loudly and distinctly, that he had known Mr. Kinck for a long time but this was the first time that he had ever known him to lose his head.

And so it went! "Bob" Collins in "Buckwheat Cakes" and a monologue was really professionally good and the crowd gave him the glad hand until he responded with an encore.

Others were equally good and the minstrels were generous with encores which the crowd insisted on having after most of the songs and dances.

Following the minstrel show the floor was cleared of the temporary benches and dancing went on to the music of the Mueller band until nearly midnight.

SPECIAL GUESTS.
Among the special guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Gorin, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Weber, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bachman and Mayor Dan Dinneen.

The girls from the core room acted as ushers and every one was given careful attention by the courteous people in charge.

Each employee was given a guest check and it was evident that most of them had brought a guest with them.

The entire crowd of minstrel men were in black face and fancy costumes and they swung the tamborines and the bones in rhythmic time for the dancers and songs.

It was unquestionably the greatest event of its kind ever put on in Decatur.

ROBERT MORRIS
One of the end men in the minstrel catur. The out doors Mueller picnic have sometimes had larger crowds but for an indoor function the Christmas parties of the Mueller family this year certainly take the palm for Decatur.

Stage setting and management—H. H. Baker.

"The Navy Will Bring Them Back"—R. Baker.
"A Day"—S. Smith.
"Old Black Joe"—A. Mueller.

DANCING FOLLOWS.
After the minstrel entertainment, the floor was cleared and each person supplied with a fancy colored paper cap. Then the dancing began and hundreds of couples took to the floor. The Mueller band furnished the music. The place took on the appearance of a carnival and everybody had a fine time. It was a fitting conclusion for an exceedingly enjoyable evening.

CHILDREN'S PARTY.

The children's party in the afternoon was quite as successful as the evening party. Nearly 60 children and their mothers were in attendance and Miss Piper from the Y. W. C. A. and W. H. Duerr from the Y. M. C. A. with assistants were present to help organize the girls and the boys into games and dances.

The youngsters were given fancy colored paper caps and they made a pretty picture as they played about the big building.

A fire place and a Christmas tree were erected in the southwest corner of the building, and C. C. Morris made an ideal Santa Claus as he gave to each child a bright red apple and a bucket of candy.

A film comedy was put on to end the party and the children went home in fine spirits after a very interesting afternoon.

The wives of the members of the firm acted as a reception committee and also did the decorating of the room for the youngsters.

ONE PERMIT FOR BUILDING

It is issued to John Ulrich For Repairing Fire Damage.

Only one building permit was issued last week. That was to John Ulrich for repairing the damage done by the fire at the Lyon Business college. The repairs will cost $700. A. W. Hendricks has the contract.

MARKETS

SHORTS TRY TO COVER; CORN UP

Attempt to Escape Losses Causes Bulge.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Efforts of shorts to escape losses in nearby deliveries carried the corn market up to-day, except March and May options, which showed a slight setback. The close was firm, January $1.45 to $1.48, and May $1.35 to $1.38, with the finish as a whole 1/4 off to 3/4 advance, compared with 24 hours before.

At first all deliveries of corn barring only December had a downward slant, owing to predictions that after New Year's a larger crop movement would take place. Subsequently, however, the fact became evident that the contention in December contracts had affected the January delivery, inasmuch as January shorts were experiencing difficulty in covering, although the scarcity of sellers was of lesser degree than in the December option. A good house in prices for both months followed, and for February as well. Rallies took place also in March and May, but the upturns were insufficient to overcome entirely the effects of the earlier weakness.

Improved domestic demand gave independent strength to cash prices. Besides, the south was said to be outbidding Chicago at some points in Illinois.

Provisions were governed chiefly by the action of corn. Strength in the hog market appeared to have but little if any direct influence.

STRENGTH SHOWN IN STOCK ISSUES

New York, Dec. 28.—Opening with a number of irregular changes in which losses predominated, today's stock market was active and closing with a broad demonstration of strength.

Early weakness was caused by reactions of 1 to almost 3 points in Marine Preferred, low grade rails, copper and a varied group of specialties. The break in the market was attributed to overnight cables indicating further delay in the consummation of the long pending deal.

Pressure was directed also against Silver, which was freely offered at an extreme reaction of 2 points, followed by a rebound in which this loss was more than retrieved.

It was not until an inquiry set in for high grade oil investment rails that the market caught its upward stride. Transcontinentals rose 1 1/2 points to 2 1/2 points, Southern Pacific leading; granulars were featured by Reading and Western, the latter rising 3 1/2 points.

Steels, coppers, oils and utilities participated in the advance with tobacco, food shares and a number of other better known specialties final quotations in line with the day's highest levels. Sales amounted to 400,000 shares.

Liberty issues again featured the bond market, about 60 per cent of the turnover representing those flotations, which ranged slightly over yesterday's final prices. Total sales (par value) aggregated $17,850,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call during the week.

New York Cash Market.

New York, Dec. 28.—WHEAT—Spot steady; No. 2 red $2.34 1/2 track No. 3.

CORN—Spot firm; No. 3 yellow, $1.70 1/2; No. 2 white, $1.75 1/2 cost and freight New York.

OATS—Spot steady; standard, 78 1/2; FEEDS—Finer; city bran 100 pound sacks, $2.00; western bran 100 pound sacks, $2.20.

LARD—Easy; Middle west, $24.50; 24.00. Other articles unchanged.

TO REPORT AT STATE HOUSE

Exemption Boards to Get Final Instructions.

City and county exemption boards were notified Saturday to report at the state house in Springfield at 10 o'clock Monday morning to receive final instructions as to how to proceed in winding up the affairs of the exemption board. Every exemption board in Illinois is to be represented at this meeting.

John Allen of the city exemption board and Cassius Holcomb of the Macon county board will attend, and some of the other board members may also go from Decatur.

It is expected that early in January the business of the exemption boards will be concluded and the members discharged from further duty.

ONLY FIVE CASES OF INFLUENZA

Demand for Nurses for Other Cases Is Still Great.

Only five new cases of influenza were reported Saturday afternoon. The demand for nurses is still great however, and Commissioner Mattos would be glad to hear from any who can serve, whether they are professional nurses or not. Even if they could serve for only a week it would help that much. By that time the hospitals might not be so crowded and there would be more room for patients there.

The new case are in the following families:

Montgomery, 1523 North Morgan.
Burke, 1548 E. Marietta.
Lee Hardin, 411 S. Water.
F. Spiller, 1642 E. Cantrell.
J. H. Harder, 969 E. Main.

Watch Party Change.
The P. N. G. of Starlight Rebekah lodge will meet Tuesday evening with Mrs. Arthur Melitz, 710 East Wood street, for their watch party, instead of with Mrs. T. C. Davis.

J. Clugston Better.
John Clugston of the Linn & Scruggs store, who is ill at the Decatur and Macon County hospital, was much improved Saturday evening.

A Good Guess.
The teacher had explained that a monarchy is a country ruled by a king. The pupils got that. "If the king dies, who rules?" the teacher continued.

"The queen," some one suggested. "Yes, under certain circumstances, which I shall explain later, that is true. Now, if the queen dies, who takes her place?"

Only one boy ventured to reply. "The jack," he said.

WELFARE WORK AMONG BABIES

Mrs. Myrtle Edwards Tells of Activities.

Mrs. Myrtle Edwards, child welfare superintendent of Decatur, has written the following article about welfare work among babies in Decatur and elsewhere.

"Of the 100,000 babies who die every year in this country before they are a year old, nearly half die during their first month of life. In many day bodies the flame of life burns so feebly at birth that it is soon snuffed out, because mothers were ill or overworked or underdressed during the momentous months before their babies were born.

"That is why we urge that as part of this campaign to save 100,000 babies, proper instruction and care be made available for all mothers during the critical months before their babies come.

BEFORE BIRTH.

"Just how much mothers themselves realize that the care of the baby must start before the baby is born, is shown by their eagerness to avail themselves of information concerning the hygiene of maternity. At least 15,000 mothers are lost to the United States each year from causes—most of them preventable—that are connected with childbearing. They die because they have not known how to protect themselves during pregnancy or because the surgeon is not within reach at the time of confinement or because the doctor or midwife who attends them is careless or ignorant. Many other mothers who survive in spite of improper care, are left in a weakened condition, incapable of properly looking after the needs of their families.

GOVERNMENT AID.

"This loss, coupled with the loss of thousands of babies, is one that no country can afford to ignore. In England, after four years of war, prenatal care for mothers has greatly increased. Only recently, the King has put his signature to a bill that provides government aid for medical and nursing care for mothers and babies. A similar bill, destined to help the mothers of the United States, especially those in rural districts, has been presented in our own congress. What may be accomplished by making available for mother's advice and proper care is shown by the record of one prenatal center in the city of Philadelphia, not one death in childbirth has occurred in three years among the mothers attending the center and not a case of eclampsia, convulsions of pregnancy. Out of 99 full-term births, 94 were living at the end of the first month. All but two were breast-fed.

ONLY FIVE LOST.

"In New York, the Milk committee has been in touch with more than 3,000 mothers. Only five of these mothers lost their lives from causes connected with childbirth and only 36 babies died in the first month of life.

"The provision of such care for all mothers would prevent a great waste to our country a waste that makes itself felt not only in mothers and babies that actually die, but in invalid women and puny children destined for a lifetime of ill-health and inefficiency. Decatur is no exception to this rule, and the writer knows of many mothers whose arms are empty simply through ignorance or neglect or whose invalid life is a burden to them from the same source."

RED TAPE MAY DELAY ROADS

What Contractor Says of Usual Methods.

One contractor in Decatur believes that if the usual methods of placing state contracts for construction are followed in the building of roads under the $60,000,000 bond appropriation that people in Macon county will be using those roads about the same time they are collecting their unexpired War Savings Stamps, about 1922 or 1924.

In support of his statement he cited the fact that it will take under the usual routine about nine months to test the validity of the bonds, the constitutionality of the law and attend to the usual red tape entanglements incident to the development of a plan of such magnitude. "This contractor does not want to be quoted nor does he care to be looked upon as a 'gloom' or 'joy' killer but unless some short cut to accomplishment such as the government adopted in the war work is used he is not counting on wearing out any tires on Illinois hard roads with any of the recent models of automobiles while they are yet in style.

TO PEACE CONDITIONS.

The theory that these roads will give employment to men during the re-adjustment of industry to peace conditions is good theory but this contractor believes that some different plan than that usually followed in normal times should be adopted to get the work started if this theory is in practice, to do what the men behind the movement for this bill wanted it to accomplish, bridge over a possible unemployment period following the conclusion of peace.
